Old Burying Ground, Townsend, Middlesex, Massachusetts

This book is a result of my childhood fascination with this burying ground and the people who were the early settlers of Townsend. Each school day from 1949 until 1961 as neighborhood children disembarked from our school bus, I glanced at the graves that were such a large part of Townsend's past. These are the men, women, and children who cleared and farmed the land, established a settlement with churches and schools, fought in the Revolution for our freedom, and provided the foundation for the Townsend we live in and love today.

Much of the genealogy for the families in this burying ground is a result of my research on my brother-in-law's Shattuck roots in Groton. Groton families blended into Pepperell and Townsend families giving me a solid basis for further research. In the beginning books from the New England Historic Genealogical Society were my source of information. I still rely on books but now much can be found on the Internet.

My main source of reference for the headstones is Vital Records of Townsend, Massachusetts, Transcribed and Edited by Henry C. Hallowell, Boston, 1992. On pages 343-354 of this book are records for this burying ground copied and verified for the Daughters of the American Revolution by Mrs. Charles M. Duren, Swampscott, Mass. and Mrs. George O. Eaton, Reading, Mass. in 1941 and 1942. I numbered those entries from 1 to 430. Those are the numbers following the HS reference on each page of this book. Over the years I attempted to devise a system that would make locating the graves easier. I did not succeed. My hope of ever finishing this project had waned during the past few years until Jeannie Bartovic at the Townsend Historical Society introduced me to the notebook completed in the early 1900s by Ella Webster and her father. Not only had they copied each epitaph, they had devised a system to locate each headstone. They used the center path to divide the right and left sides of this burying ground. Each headstone then has a row and number listing. Their system is not perfect but it gives an accurate direction for searching. Their row and number, with a few adjustments entered by me, have been added to the top of the page for each headstone.

Starting in 1992, I copied what I could decipher from the epitaphs. Ella Webster and her father had written much more. Their contributions are added in bold italics to what I had copied. Unfortunately, almost all of the plain slates that they found are no longer in this burying ground. I did not try to include them. Some of the headstones are gone. Luckily many of those epitaphs were copied by Ella Webster and her father and are included in this book.

Those headstones that are marked with a * are further researched by consulting the Patriot Index in this book. There are no absolutes in records this old. The following is what I conclude from my research. Further research may make different conclusions.

History of the town of Townsend, Middlesex County, Massachusetts : from the grant of Hathorn's farm, 1676-1878, pp. 160-162.

In 1742, the town "Voted to accept of an acre of land, from Mr. William Clark, for a burial place." It is probable, that this "God's acre" was given to the town a considerable length of time before this vote was passed. There must have been some burials in Townsend during the first twelve or fifteen years of its settlement, and from its proximity to the meeting-house, this was undoubtedly the first place selected for the interment of the dead. The graves first made here are marked by rough slabs of slate, minus any inscriptions, and the first stones on which are any records, date back no further than 1745.

In 1744, "Voted to choose a committee of three men to clear up the burying place, and dispose of the timber for the best advantage of the town. Chosen for this committee, Nathaniel Richardson, Joseph Baldwin, and Josiah Robbins." In 1747, the town evinced a deeper interest in this cemetery, and "Voted to fence the burying place with a stone wall four feet and four inches high." Mr. William Clark, the giver, was the owner of a large amount of land in this town. His name appears on the list of the seventy-two persons quoted in this work, who were present at Concord, in May, 1720. He subscribed for a "Lott" in "ye North Town" but did not pay at the time. He was a shoemaker, owned slaves, came from Concord to this town, and settled on the south side of the river, at the base of the hill on the South Row road leading from the old meeting-house, on the west side of the road, where one Isaac Spaulding afterward lived. The bridge, at the west of the Harbor pond, has always been known as the Clark bridge, and was called for him.

A slate gravestone, now in a good state of preservation, was erected to his memory, situated near the centre of this burial place, from which it appears that he died in 1756, aged seventy-seven years. [Ella Webster and her father when they copied the epitaphs in the early 1900s and denoted a row and number for each headstone denoted the headstone of William Clarke as Row 23, Number 2, Left of Center Path. This headstone is denoted as HS325 on page 198 of this book. In 2011 this headstone is in okay condition.]

About 1816, the people began to talk about a new burying place, the acre of ground given by William Clark being nearly full; besides, there are no avenues in this acre; and "dust to dust" is so closely commingled, and the headstones are so numerous, that the part farthest from the road is not easily approached by a funeral cortege. In 1818, the town voted to buy the land now used for a cemetery at the centre of the town, then owned by Rev. David Palmer, Deacon Daniel Adams, and Richard Warner, Esq., each of whom had an angle of land needed to make the grounds eligible, both in distance from the meeting-house and quadrangular in shape.

In 1775 Captain Daniel Taylor was chosen to attend a Provincial Congress at Cambridge, and soon after Israel Hobart was chosen to succeed him. This congress enacted that at least one-fourth of all the militia should be enrolled as minute-men, who should be prepared to march at a minute's warning, on any emergency. This was a decisive step, which shows the grit of the Revolutionary fathers. Some of the members of this congress, from different towns, gave their time and expenses; others were paid wholly or in part by subscription.

The town voted to indemnify the constables for refusing to pay over the money which had been assessed by the Province, into the hands of Harrison Gray. The people were exceedingly aroused at this time. These were the defiant measures that brought on the war and started the King's troops en route for Concord, on the memorable 19th day of April, 1775.

Boston at that time was suffering under the vengeance of Parliament, for throwing over the tea and for being the head and front of disloyalty. There were many poor in that town out of employment, who had a scanty allowance of supply for their tables. To them the inland towns extended the hand of charity and relief. At a town-meeting, January 2, 1775, "Voted and chose a committee of five men to forward the donations for Boston and Charlestown. Chose for said committee, Mr. Israel Hobart, Capt. Benjamin Brooks, Lieut. Zachariah Emery and Mr. John Conant." Probably each man of this committee took a well-packed sled-load of provisions to their suffering friends at the tide-water. There is no other record concerning this transaction, as the warrants for calling town-meetings were not always recorded at that time.

At a town-meeting, June 19, 1775, " Voted to purchase 50 Hogsheads of salt for a town stock. Deacon Richard Wyer chosen to go to Salem to purchase said salt, and ordered him to take his directions from the Select Men, who are to give security in the name of the town for the same."

It thus appears that the town was preparing for the fight which was about to commence—the opening scene of the Revolution. So far as the actual means of gaining a living were concerned, the people of that time were comparatively independent. They took the wool from the sheep, cleansed, spun and wove it, ready to be made into clothing, which they wove in their hand-loom. Lighter fabrics were made from their flax, spun by a foot-wheel, the thread being graded by running between the thumb and forefinger of the operative. They ground their own grain into flour for their bread, produced vegetables and meat plentifully for their tables, and laid the rock maple under contribution for their sugar supply. The virgin soil yielded abundantly in payment of the toil of the husbandman. Luxury was a word not to be found in their vocabulary; and tea they would not use after it was subject to a duty. Salt they could not produce, but they exercised great prudence in sending to the coast in season for an abundant supply. For the expense of getting it, a separate tax was assessed on all the polls and estates in town.

The alarm to the minute-men was given on the 19th of April, 1775, by the firing of a cannon on the hill where the meeting-house stood, about noon. Without doubt, quite a number of Paul Reveres tested their horsemanship in warning the patriots of the approach of the "ministerial troops." Ephraim Warren was plowing on his farm, a little to the southeast of Townsend Harbor, when the alarm was given. He immediately detached his team from the plow. and running to his house, called, "Mollie" (he married Mary Parker, of Chelmsford); " the regulars are coming and I am going; give me my gun." And he quickly mounted his horse and started towards the coast. He arrived at Concord early in the evening, only in season to see some dead bodies and a few wounded British soldiers, who had been left by their comrades in their hasty flight. The resistance to the British troops at Concord, and the manner in which the yeomanry of the Province hurried them back to their ships, makes a thrilling episode in American history.

"Muster Roll of Capt. James Hosley's company of minute-men, belonging to Col. William Prescott's regiment, who marched from Townsend April last to Cambridge in defence of the colony against tho ministerial troops:

"James Hosley, Capt.; Richard Wyer, 1st Lieut.; James Locke, 2d Lieut.; Peter Butterfield, Sergt.; Benjamin Ball, Sergt.; Lemuel Maynard, Corpl.; Ephraim Brown, Corpl.; Nath'l. Bagley, Drummer ; Ebenezer Ball, Daniel Holt, James Sloan, William Kendall, Daniel Conant, Asa Heald, Joseph Rumrill, Oliver Proctor, Daniel Clark, Richard Warren, Israel Richardson, Robert Waugh, Elijah Wyman, Eleazer Butterfield, Benjamin Hobart, John Brown, Daniel Emery, Ephraim Shedd, Zachariah Emery, Joseph Baldwin, William Clark, David Graham, Thomas Eaton, Ebenezer Hall, Jr., Joseph Shattuck, Thomas Webster, Jr., Levi Whitney, Noah Farrar, Josiah Richardson, Jonathan Patt, Isaac Kidder, James Rumrill, Jr., Jonas Farmer, Daniel Sherwin, Eleazer Butterfield, Jr., Isaac Boynton, Ephraim Brown, John Clark, Jedediah Jewett, Dudley Kemp, Abel Richardson, John Manning, John Emery, Thomas Wyman, Henry Dunster."

These men were paid for their services by order of the General Court in December, 1775, and they were in the field most of them twenty-one days. The action of the Townsend militia was nearly as prompt as that of the minute-men.

"A Roll of the travel and service of Capt. Samuel Douglas, of Townsend in the county of Middlesex, and belonging to Col. James Prescott's Regiment, and also of the men under his command, who, in consequence of the alarm made on the 19th of April, 1775, marched from home for ye defence of then Colony against the ministerial troops, and continued in the service till called back to take care of the Tories in Townsend.

'Samuel Douglas, Captain; James Hildreth, Drummer; Oliver Hildreth, Jona. Hildreth, Ephem. Adams, Abijah Hildreth, Joel Davis, Isaac Holden, Abner Adams, Abner Brooks, Benjamin Wilson, Benjamin Brooks, Abel Porter, Daniel Campbell, Samuel Scripture, Robert Campbell, Benjamin Adams, Joseph Giles, Andrew Searles, Jonathan Goss."

These men were in the service five days, and on the 22d of March, 1776, the General Court ordered them to be paid. Captain Douglas received £1 7s, Id., and the men 12s. 9d 2qr. each.

These two rolls were copied from the "Lexington Alarm Rolls," vol. xii. pp. 115, 42, in the State archives. The captains of these companies made oath before Israel Hobart, Esq., that they were correct in regard to travel, term of service and the days of the month on which the service was rendered, from which it appears that Townsend had seventy-three men who quickly responded to the "alarm" on that memorable 19th of April.

The title of the roll of Captain Douglas' company is instructive in regard to the feeling here among the people at the commencement of the Revolution; for it appears that this company "was called back to take care of the Tories inside Townsend." Most of the Townsend men who did not favor the cause of independence were near neighbors of Douglas and his soldiers. It appears from the records that Townsend had quite a number of men who were loyal to the King, some of whom left the Province. Both of these rolls designate the British soldiers as "ministerial troops" instead of His Majesty's troops, which rather indicates that the colonists considered that the King had bad advisers, and that the British ministry might perhaps be induced, in using deliberation and reason, and guided by wisdom, to consider and reconsider some of the acts that bore so heavily upon them.

The assembling of the soldiers around Boston in 1775 was a great advantage to the colonists, as it showed them the need of arms, blankets and other munitions of war. The acquaintance there formed, the discussions of future operations against their enemies and the necessity of well-concerted action, all strengthened their determination to be free. A large portion of the soldiers from all parts of the State who responded to the alarm re-enlisted and served more or less during the war with different captains and in companies from different towns.

The summer of 1775 was extremely hot and dry, much more so than any since the settlement of the town; there were small crops of corn and potatoes, and on dry land failed entirely; of hay not over half a crop was raised. There was also much sickness in town; many families suffering from the diseases of dysentery and fevers, which in many cases were long and severe. The number of deaths in town was unusually large. Add to this the absence of so many heads of families in the army, and the keen anxiety concerning the affairs of the Province, and we can have some idea of the depressed condition, the trials and struggles of this first year of the war.

The exact number of men from Townsend in the battle of Bunker Hill is not known; thirty-five of them were in Captain Henry Farwell's company, made up principally from Groton and Townsend soldiers. Oliver Stevens, in Captain Wyman's company, was wounded and died in prison. Archibald McIntosh, of Townsend, was killed in this action.

As near as can be ascertained, there were between thirty and thirty-five men constantly in the army from this town until the British evacuated Boston in March, 1776. One great mistake in the war was the short term of enlistments, just as it was in the War of the Rebellion. About as soon as some of the recruits began to be worth anything to the government their term of service expired and they were mustered out.

In 1776 Oliver Prescott, of Groton, was appointed brigadier-general, and in that capacity he organized the militia of Middlesex County into eight companies constituting a regiment of drafted soldiers under fifty years of age.

Company No. 8, in this regiment, was commanded by Captain Thomas Warren, of Townsend. There were sixty men in this company, thirteen of whom belonged to Townsend, and their names are as follows:

Thomas Warren, captain; Samuel Maynard, corporal; Robert Waugh, corporal; William Manning, Joel Davis, Samuel Wyman, Jonathan Bowers, David Holt, William Clark, Asa Merrill, Hinchman Warren, Ephraim Warren, Timothy Warren.

It will be easily understood that, under the severe pressure of a harassing war, when all resources were heavily drawn upon to furnish arms, ammunition, clothes and provisions for the army, to supply funds for the payment of the soldiers and to meet other expenses incident to the state of public affairs, money among the people was not only exceedingly scarce, but that, in consequence of the successive drafts for soldiers, laborers were in great demand, and their services commanded exorbitant prices. The result of this was that prices of all commodities, and articles of consumption, rose in proportion. This was a peculiar state of affairs. Every kind of goods was held at a high price, although no one had money to buy with. The General Court passed an act dividing the State into districts, and ordered that a committee should be chosen in each district to fix upon the prices of labor and provisions. This plan operated unequally, and was given up, as the people would not submit to it.

At this time the people began to feel the heavily pressing burdens of the war, and began to devise means to equalize the same among themselves. At the March meeting, 1777, the town "voted to choose a committee of five men to estimate all the past services done in the war by men of this town ; Thomas Warren, James Hosley, Daniel Adams, Richard Wyer and Levi Whitney were chosen for said committee." The report of this committee is spread on the town records, and the sums awarded to the soldiers are certainly small. The expense was made into a tax "on the several inhabitants of this town, and that the polls pay one-half of said rate."

In addition to all other embarrassments under which the patriotic citizens were laboring, was the discouraging influence of about a dozen men in this town who were Tories. These men, for more than two years, had clandestinely opposed all measures which tended to resist the authority of Great Britain.

They were intelligent, most of them, and lived on Nissequassick Hill, and during the time that the soldiers were absent—after the alarm of the 19th of April—they were offensively outspoken and disagreeable. It was during this year that it became necessary for every man to show his colors, as public opinion demanded every able-bodied citizen to give his individual support to the American cause, or be exposed to public indignation, to prosecutions before a special court of the Sessions of the Peace, to imprisonment, or to a coat of tar and feathers. Occasionally they were obliged to uncover their heads, and, in presence of the assembled majesty of the town, to promise greater love for the American cause and a strict conformity to the popular will.

The selectmen reported the names of persons who were suspected of unfriendly feelings towards the patriots, and who were considered dangerous. There were eight of them, viz.: Isaac Wallace, William Wallace, David Holden, Jonathan Wallace, Ebenezer Giles, Joshua Smith, Reuben Tucker and Seth Johnson. Jonathan Wallace and Ebenezer Giles were excused after a rigid examination. There were others besides these men, some of whom, when the excitement was at its height, precipitantly left the town. The most prominent Townsend man who was loyal to the Crown and British ministry was Joseph Adams, a physician. He came to this town from Lincoln, married Miss Lovy Lawrence, of Lincoln, December 19, 1774. He owned a farm in Townsend and one in Pepperell, both of which, after the close of the war, were sold under the confiscation act by James Locke, who was appointed agent by the Judge of Probate. A committee was appointed to settle with his creditors, consisting of Rev. Samuel Dix, Captain Joseph Adams and others. He left early in the struggle and went to England, and died at Liscard, Cornwall, February 3, 1803.

At the close of the war there was considerable pressure on the part of the absentees, or runaway tories, from all parts of the country, for the privilege of returning to the places that were once their homes. To this the patriots never consented. On the 17th of April, 1783, the town of Boston sent a letter concerning these absentees, and a copy of the proceedings of a meeting at Faneuil Hall, directed,—"To the committee of Correspondence, &c., the Selectmen of the Town or Plantation of Townsend, to be communicated to the Town or Plantation." The tone of this meeting had the regular Faneuil Hall ring to it. The preamble to their action set forth the case of the absentees in their true light at considerable length, stating the duty of each town to practice their rights. One resolution only was passed which covered the whole subject:

RESOLVED, That this Town will at all times (as they have done), to the utmost of their Power, Oppose every Enemy to the Just Rights and Liberties of Mankind: And that after is wicked a conspiracy against those Rights and Liberties, by certain Ingrates, most of them Natives of those States, and who have been Refugees and declared Traitors to their Country, it is the opinion of this Town, that they ought never to be suffered to return, but be excluded from having Lot or Portion among us."

Townsend, at a town-meeting on the 12th of May following, voted not to allow the return of the absentees, and that the selectmen communicate the vote of the town to the town of Boston. All the towns on the coast, as well as Boston, had more interest in the return of these Tories than the inland towns, for more of them belonged in these towns.

On the 30th of April, 1775, General Gage made a proposal "that those persons in the country who inclined to move into Boston with their effects might have liberty to do so without molestation." To this the Provincial Congress assented, and officers were appointed to grant permits, and a large number of Loyalists availed themselves to seek the shelter of the British guns. There are good reasons for supposing that two or more of the Townsend Tories took advantage of this chance of escape, for their names, as far as is known, never appeared afterward on any records of the town.

All along through the war there were repeated calls upon the town for soldiers. Sometimes a few left at a time and joined companies in other towns. William Kendall, third sergeant, Joseph Putney and Jedediah Jewett, of Townsend, were in Captain Jonathan Davis' company, of Harvard. Perhaps the most critical period in the war was the state of affairs on the Hudson River, when Burgoyne was marching for Albany with his army. The General Court ordered thither a portion of the troops from several counties, June 27, 1777. In some parts of the State volunteers enlisted, and marched to the assistance of General Gates and General Arnold, who at that time was the bravest of the brave. The following is a roll of one of these volunteer companies:

"STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS. Capt. James Hosley's Muster Roll of Volunteers, who turned out of the towns of Townsend, Pepperell and Ashby, and marched with him to the assistance of Major-General Gates, agreeable to a Resolve of the General Court of said State, upon September 22d, 1777, In the Regiment whereof Jonathan Reed Is Colonel. James Hosley, Capt.; Asa Kendall, Lieut.; Nathl. Sartell, Lieut.; Daniel Adams, Clerk ; Lemuel Petts, Sergt.; Thomas Shattack, Sergt.; Asa Shedd, Sergt.; Benjamin Whitney, Sergt.; Abram Clark, Lieut.; Abner Adams, Sergt.; Nathl. Bailey, Sergt.; David Heyward, Sergt.; Elijah Wyman, Sergt.; Benj. Adams, Corpl.; Jedidiah Jewett, Corpl.; Joseph Lawrence, Corpl.; John Boynton; William Stevens, Corpl.; Thomas Flsk, Corpl.; Samuel Stone, Corpl.; Abel Richardson, Corpl.: William Prescott, Esq., formerly Colonel; Henry Wood, Esq., formerly Major; Samuel Stone, Major in the Militia. Privates: James Campbell, John Emery, John Eaton, Isaac Farrar, James Giles, Jonas Farmer, James Green, James Hildreth, Benjamin Ball, Joshua Hosley, Samuel Henshaw, Abel Hildreth, Benj. Hudson, Daniel Jewell, Asa Kendall, Jr.. David Locke, Thomas Lawrence, Joseph Baldwin. Abner Brooks, Abraham Boynton, Sampson Bowers, Jonas Baldwin, Daniel Butterfield, Isaac Blood, Daniel Clark, John Locke, John Manning, John Stevens, Richard Stevens, Samuel Seward, Nathl Sartell, Jr., Daniel Sherwin, Jr., William Tarbell, Samuel Wright, Jr., Joseph Walker, Jacob Wright, Timothy Warren, Pomp Phillius, John Emerson, Nathan Lovejoy, Timothy Hodgman."

These volunteers were in the service one month and fifteen days, and the pay of the privates was £3, 15s., that of the officers being about sixty per cent, more than that of the men. This was one of the most efficient military companies that went to the war from this part of Middlesex County. Colonel Prescott, the hero of Bunker Hill, and two of his subordinate officers carried their guns and served in the ranks of this corps, which, on the 17th of October, 1777, assisted in the surrender of the haughty Burgoyne at Saratoga.

During the year 1778 town-meetings followed in rapid succession,; the fourth one, on May 11th, was called " to see if the town will come into some method that will be effectual to raise the men called for of said town, for the public service, by the resolves of the General Court, April 20, 1778." At this meeting voted to give £130 to each of the Continental men and £80 to each of the militiamen. It must be kept in remembrance that when the war commenced, the enthusiasm of the people was at its height, and the pay was comparatively good; after this period it became necessary to resort to some regular system for keeping our quota full. Besides this, the seat of war was so much farther from home than at first that there was more dread to enlist. Townsend had two militia companies, organized about 1774, known as the "North Company" and the "South Company." These companies are called the "training-bands" in the records. The men of the town were enrolled from sixteen to sixty-five years of age, in these two companies, the dividing line between the two being the old county road. Whenever a call was made for troops from this town, these soldiers would meet and equalize the number of men each company was obliged to furnish. Generally the soldiers from this town, in the first part of the war, received bounties, but some went for less bounty than was offered by the town at that time. In some instances members of these two companies cast lots among themselves to see who should go. The man upon whom the lot fell had to shoulder his musket and march, or hire a substitute. The number of men who could afford to hire a substitute was limited. One fact is worthy of record: Townsend sent no man to the war except its own sons and citizens.

The following list of names is the only roll to be found in the records of the town of Townsend. Names of the six months' men in the continental service for 1780—travel, 220 miles:

"Eleazer Butterfield, William Stacey, Isaac Spalding, John Sherwin, Peter Adams, Jonathan Wheelock, Benjamin Hill, Timothy Shattuck, Benj. Wetherbee."

In June, 1779, a town-meeting was called, with this article in the warrant: " To see what the town will give to the men for the nine months' continental service, rather than proceed to a draught." On this article "voted to offer each soldier of our quota of nine months' men, 1000 dollars, or ninety bushels of rye."

During the last years of the war the depreciation of the currency deranged all business transactions and caused much excitement. The mother country had flooded the States with counterfeit scrip, so that eventually paper money became entirely valueless. One dollar in specie varied in value from $4.50, in 1778, to $16G, in 1781, compared with Continental scrip. In July, 1781, the town voted to raise £40,000 to defray the charges of the war, and £6000 to make up the salary of Rev. Samuel Dix.

The writer is aware that this dim abstract of the part which Townsend took in this great struggle for constitutional freedom does not do justice either to the subject or to the men who engaged in it. They were poor, they had "foes within" in the heartless gang of Tories with whom they had to contend, they fought against great odds, and nothing but a consciousness of the rectitude of their course gave them success. Looking back over these scenes, they rise up before the mind like things coming from dreamland.

"'Tis like a dream when man awakes,

This vision of the scene of old ;
Tis like the moon when morning breaks,

'Tis like a tale round watch-fires told."

THE SHAYS REBELLION.—At the close of the Revolution the country was in a demoralized condition. Nearly all the available wealth of the people, at the commencement of the war, had been expended to feed, clothe and pay the soldiers. There was much dissatisfaction among those who had served in the army at being paid off in worthless currency. The increase of the indebtedness of the towns and individuals, the scarcity of money of any value, the decay of business, numerous law-suits, and a want of confidence in the government, particularly in regard to financial matters, generated a depressed state of feeling, which caused great anxiety among the people. This state of feeling, in some degree, was co-extensive with the Commonwealth. People began to express great disapprobation of the manner in which the government was administered, and a revolt, in the western part of the State, was freely discussed, as early as 1782. In the town of Northampton the insurgents were rather numerous, having a disappointed and disaffected clergyman by the name of Ely for a leader, who understood all the arts of a demagogue. In 1783 a mob assembled in Springfield, resolving itself into a general convention. Proceeding to the court-house, on the appearance of the judges and sheriff, they opposed their entrance into the building. A riot was prevented by the timely intervention of the most influential citizens there present.

For the next three years "the distressed state of affairs" as expressed in Townsend records, continued. In 1786 a convention of insurgents, according to Holland's "Western Massachusetts," assembled at Leicester, when thirty-seven towns were represented, which, without any interruption, freely discussed the propriety of obstructing the sitting of the General Court at Boston, the closing of the County Courts by force, law abuses and other subjects.

In the counties of Middlesex, Bristol and Berkshire similar conventions were held, and votes and resolves passed. On September 5, 1786, a mob prevented the session of the court at Worcester. The voters in the towns of Pepperell, Shirley, Groton and Townsend were about equally divided on this subject. The town of Concord, where the court was then in session, was much excited, dreading the arrival of the rebels against the State authorities. A majority of that town was in sympathy with the insurgents. A committee chosen by the town of Concord addressed the following letter to most of the towns in this county, and Townsend among the number:

"To the Town of Townsend:

"GENTLEMEN: Alarmed at the threatening aspect of our public affairs, this town has this day hold a meeting and declared unanimously their utter disapprobation or the disorderly proceedings of a number of persons in the Counties of Hampshire and Worcester, in preventing the action of the courts. And apprehending the like may be attempted in this County, and probably be attended with Tory dangerous consequences, we have thought it advisable to endeavor, in conjunction with as many of the neighboring towns as we can give reasonable information to, by lenient measures to dissuade from such rash conduct as may Involve the state In anarchy and confusion, and the deprecated horrors of civil war. We conceive the present uneasiness of the people to be not altogether groundless; and although many designing men, enemies of the present government, may wish and actually are fomenting uneasiness among the people, yet we are fully persuaded that the views of by far the greater part are to obtain redress of what they conceive to be real grievances. And since the method they have taken cannot fall of meeting the hearty disapprobation of every friend of peace and good order, we cannot but hope, from what we know of the strenuous exertions which have been made by the towns around us, and in which those disorders above mentioned now exist, to purchase at the expense of blood our independence, and the great unanimity with which they have established our present government; and from what we know of the real grounds of their complaints ; were lenient measures used, and a number of towns united to endeavor, by every rational argument, to dissuade those who may seem refractory from measures which tend immediately to destroy the full fabric of our government, and to Join in legal and constitutional measures to obtain redress of what may be found real grievances, they would be attended with happy effects.

"We have therefore chosen a committee to act in concert with the neighboring towns, for the purpose of mediating between opposing parties, should they meet. And we cannot but hope our united endeavors to support the dignity of government and prevent the effusion of blood will meet with general approbation, and be attended with happy results.

"If the above should meet with your approbation, we request you to choose some person to meet a committee of this town, chosen for that purpose, at the house of Captain Oliver Brown, innholder in Concord, on Monday evening or Tuesday morning next, that we may confer together, and adopt measures which may be thought best calculated for the attainment of the end above proposed.

"We are, gentlemen, with great esteem and friendship, your humble servants.

"JOSEPH HOSMER," in behalf of the town's committee.

"Concord, Sept. 9, 1786."

Townsend during this period was in a state of great perplexity, judging from the records of many town meetings. In May, 1786, a warrant was posted calling a town-meeting on the 5th of June following, when a committee of five men was chosen "to draft public grievances," consisting of David Spafford, Jonathan Wallace, Daniel Adams, Benjamin Ball and Thomas Seaver. The first and last-named man on this committee were disaffected men; the other three were opposed to the insurrection. At the same meeting chose the same men as a committee to confer with other towns, and then adjourned to the 26th of the same month. Met at the adjournment and adjourned for two weeks. At this adjourned meeting the town "chose two men to attend a convention (of insurgents) to be holden in Concord on the twenty-third of August."

There is no record of anything like a response to the letter sent to Townsend by the committee of the town of Concord. It seemed to be the first purpose of the insurgents to suppress the Courts of Sessions until some action should be taken to stay the flood of executions which wasted their property and made their homes desolate. On the 12th of September, 1786, three days after the date of the letter from Concord, three companies of insurgents marched into Concord, and forcibly stopped the court then in session. The "head-centre" of the insurrection in Middlesex County was Job Shattuck, of Groton, assisted by Sylvanus and Nathan Smith, of Shirley, and Peter Butterfield, of Townsend, all of whom had been officers in the War for American Independence. Shattuck served in the French War, and all of these men were well qualified to be conspicuous in such a cause.

Meeting with no resistance in stopping the court at Concord, their deportment was insolent and offensive in the extreme towards the judges, the members of the bar and every one not disposed to be in sympathy with them. The court being about to be holden at Cambridge, the Governor ordered the militia to be in readiness to march to that place, and at this juncture, when an effort to stop the court so near the capital of the State had succeeded, without any further delay or chance for the insurgents to rally their forces, "warrants were issued for apprehending the head men of the insurgents of Middlesex, and for imprisoning them without bail or mainprize." A company of horse was ordered from Boston to assist the sheriff in the capture of Shattuck and his officers, which, on its arrival at Concord, was reinforced by a party of mounted men from Groton, under Colonel Henry Woods. This force succeeded in capturing two prisoners—Oliver Parker and Benjamin Page, but failed to find Shattuck during the day, as he had taken alarm and escaped. "Under this disappointment, at midnight, in the midst of a violent snow-storm, the whole party were ordered on to Shattuck's house, in Groton, where they did not arrive till late in the morning. A search was immediately commenced, and judicious pursuit discovered him to a party of a few persons led by Colonel Woods himself. Shattuck obstinately resisted, and was not taken till he had received several wounds, which he returned without much injury."

The following list of the Townsend insurgents has been preserved among the papers on file with the town records. It is worthy of notice that about one-fourth of the persons whose names are in this list were young men in their minority. Fourteen of them had the suffix of Jr. to their names. Abraham Butterfield, the son of Peter, was less than seventeen years old, and some of them were under sixteen years of age. Four of these men held commissions during the Revolution, and most of them were respectable and useful citizens, misguided though they were:

Peter Butterfield, Asa Heald, Samuel Stevens, Jonas Warren, Jacob Batchelder. Benja. Spaulding, Jr., Andrew Searle, Jr., Daniel Clark, Simeon Richardson, John Emery, Ephraim Lampson, Jonathan Pierce, Asa Stevens, Isaac Lewis, Andrew Searles, Jedediah Jewett, Elijah Dodge, James Baldwin, Nathaniel Bailey, Jr., Zachery Hildreth, Aaron Proctor, Phillip Warren, Isaac Green, Isaac Giles,, Solomon Sherwin, Azariah P. Sherwin, Peter Adams, Joseph Rumrill, Jonathan Sanderson, Thomas Seaver, Josiah Burge, Jr., Homer Berge, Abjiah Monroe, Abel Keys, Elnathan Spalding, Josiah Richardson. Levi Whitney, Benj. Wallace. Moses Warren, Isaac Farrar, Jr, Stephen Warren, Jonas Ball, Nathan Conant, Jr., Isaac Wallis, Jr., Rueben Gaschett, Benjamin Digs, William Stevens, Jr., David Wallace, James Ball, Asa Whitney, Isaac Wallis, Joseph Baldwin, Jr., Phinehas Baldwin, David Spafford (3d), Solomon Peirce, John Conant, Benja. Wood, Nathan Carlton, Samuel Searles, David Spafford, Ebenezer Ball, Jr., Abraham Ball, James Sloan. Richard Warner, John Waugh, Jr.. Joel Davis, Jeremiah Ball, Charles Richards, Jesse Maynard, Nathl Bowers, Josiah Rice, Abraham Butterfield, John Campell, Jr, Jonas Campbell, John Colburn, John Graham, Benja. Brooks, Jr., Thaddeus Spaulding, Abijah Hildreth, Abel Green, Isaac Spalding, William Wallace, John Giles, Aaron Scott.

About thirty of the young men, whose names appear in the foregoing list, marched to Concord under Lieutenant Peter Butterfield and were present at the time the court was stopped.

A strict search, in and around Townsend, was made for Butterfield by the posse comitatus under Colonel Woods, when Shattuck was taken, but he eluded his pursuers. There was after that time quite an effort made to capture him. During a part of the following winter he secreted himself in a cabin masked with evergreens, on the hill northwesterly from his house, in plain sight of the same, where he was apprised of approaching danger by his wife. His house stood about three-fourths of a mile northerly from the harbor, on the west side of the road leading to Brookline, along the easterly base of Nissequassick Hill. At length his retreat was discovered, and his pursuers followed his track on the snow until nearly night, when, getting into a secluded place in a thicket, in the dusk of the evening, they lost light of his track and abandoned further pursuit. After he was satisfied that his enemies had departed, he took a direct course for the house of one of his friends, who immediately took him over the line into New Hampshire. His exertions to escape flooded him with perspiration, so that waiting in a frosty atmosphere to be sure that the officers had gone, he took a violent cold, which induced rheumatism, from which he suffered during the remainder of his life. He never was arrested by the officers, and there has been found no certificate from any magistrate, showing that he took the oath of allegiance, although the same file of papers in which, these names were found, contains the certificates of different magistrates, before whom sixty of these men took that oath. He was a man of excellent moral character, very industrious and had many friends.

Daniel Shays, from whom the outbreak takes its name, was born in Hopkinton, 1747. After the rebellion was crushed he fled to Vermont, and afterwards removed to Sparta, New York, where he died Sept. 29, 1825. He was a pensioner of the United States, having been a captain in the Revolutionary War.

Perhaps there never was so much smoke and so little fire, or so small a show of talent or brains in any insurrection as in the Shays' Rebellion. The insurgents appeared to dread a collision with the troops during the whole time they were in arms against the government. All the loses in the rebellion were three killed and one hundred and fifty taken prisoners—all Shays' men. In 1787 certain laws were altered, which made everything satisfactory to the entire voting population of the Commonwealth.

John Sherwin, the Immigrant Ancestor

John Sherwin, the immigrant ancestor of all the early colonial families of this surname in New England, was born in England, in 1644, of an ancient and honored family. This surname is variously spelled Sharen. Sharin. Sherren, Sherwine, etc. He died at Ipswich, Massachusetts, October 15, 1726, aged eighty-two years. He married at Ipswich, Massachusetts, where he settled after coming to America, Frances Lomas, November 25, 1667. They both joined the church in full communion April 12, 1674. He had granted to him by the town the right to cut trees for fencing, three hundred rails, January 13, 1667. He had a seat in the meeting house in 1700, and was on the list of commoners for 1707. He married September 30, 1691, his second wife, Mary Chandler, daughter of William, and was then called "senior." Children: 1. Ebenezer, mentioned below. 2. Mary, born August, 1679. 3. Frances, born January 27, 1681 ; married November 23, 1696. Isaac Cinnmings, of Ipswich, at Boxford, Massachusetts. 4. Sarah, born October 8, 1683. 5. John. Children of second wife: 6. Alice, born February 3, 1693. 7. Abigail, born May 4, 1695. 8. Eleanor, born June 28, 1696. 9. William, born June 27, 1698. 10. Jacob, born October 17, 1700.

(II) Ebenezer Sherwin, son of John Sherwin (1), was born about 1675, in Ipswich, Massachusetts. He married at Boxford, Massachusetts, February 1, 1699-1700. Susanna Howlett, of Topsfield, Massachusetts. Her birth appears as Johanna Howlett. born August 27, 1679, at Topsfield, Massachusetts, (daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Clark) Howlett, who were married January 3, 1670, at Topsfield. Susanna died at Boxford, October 29, 1762, aged eighty-three years. Thomas Howlett, father of Samuel and grandfather of Susanna, was born in England; settled as early as 1635 in Ipswich, which granted to him that year a house lot adjoining Thomas Hardy's, in the way leading to the mill; was ensign in the militia, and in 1643 he was paid for active service with ten soldiers. He was a commoner in 1641; deputy to the general court in 1635; died 1678, aged seventy-nine years; wife Alice died June 26, 1666; second wife Rebecca, survived him: children: Samuel, Thomas, Sarah Cummings, Mary Perley and Nathaniel, who died April 28, 1658.

Children of Ebenezer and Susanna (Howlett) Sherwin. born at Boxford and recorded also at Topsfield, Massachusetts: 1. Susanna, born August 6 or November 9, 1701, (both are town records): married at Boxford, May 20, 1725, Matthias Cowdrey. 2. Jonathan, born January 8, 1703-4 at Boxford ; married Mary Lorvey. of Bradford: town clerk 1740: died May 7, 1746; sons Samuel and Asa settled at Rindge, New Hampshire. 3. Ebenezer, born January 5, 1705: mentioned below.

Ebenezer Sherwin Jr., son of Ebenezer Shenvin (2), was born June 5, 1705, at Boxford, Massachusetts, and married there. September 21, 1726, Hepsibath Cole. He was a farmer and cooper at Boxford. Ten children, born in Boxford. The third child, Lieutenant Daniel Sherwin was born in Boxford, Massachusetts, or vicinity in 1730. He settled in Townsend, Massachusetts and was a prominent citizen there. He was a soldier in the Revolution, a lieutenant in command of a detachment of the Townsend militia, Colonel James Prescott's regiment, responding to the Lexington alarm; also first lieutenant in Captain Thomas Warren's company (first Townsend) fifth company of the Sixth Middlesex Regiment, ordered commissioned April 24, 1776; also first lieutenant in Captain Aaron Jewett's company, Colonel Job Cushing's regiment, in 1777, marching to Bennington, Vermont, to support Stark; also Captain Aaron Jewett's company, Colonel Samuel Bullard's regiment, in 1777, at the time of taking Burgoyne. His son Daniel Jr. was also in the army in 1775-76-77 and 1778. His son Captain John was also in the Revolution. He married Susanna Proctor and they had fourteen children.

Henry Alden Sherwin

Henry Alden Sherwin, the great-great-grandson of Daniel and Susannah (Proctor) Sherwin was the founder of Sherwin-Williams Paint Co.

217. HENRY ALDEN⁹ SHERWIN (ALDEN WHEELOCK⁸, JOHN⁷, JOHN⁶, DANIEL⁵, EBENEZER⁴, EBENEZER³, JOHN², ROBERT¹) was born September 27, 1842 in Baltimore, VT., and died June 26, 1916 in Willoughby, OH.. He married FRANCES MARY SMITH September 27, 1865 in Cleveland, Cuyahoga Co., OH. She was born December 16, 1843 in Cleveland, Cuyahoga Co., OH.

Notes for HENRY ALDEN SHERWIN:

The SHERWIN WILLIAMS CO., a pioneer in the development of the paint industry, was established in Cleveland in 1866 by Henry A. Sherwin. By 1994 the company's operations included 2,046 paint stores, 139 automotive paint branches, and strong multi-brand paint franchises in architectural, industrial, and special purpose coatings.

In July 1866 Sherwin invested $2,000 in Truman Dunham & Co., 118 Superior St., importers and dealers in paints, oils, varnishes, and window glass. In 1870, the original partnership dissolved; Sherwin, Alanson T. Osborn, and Edward P. Williams formed a new partnership, Sherwin, Williams & Co. which operated a retail store at 118 Superior St. First year sales reached $422,390.97. By 1872 the business was relocated to 126 Superior and 44 Long streets. In 1873 Sherwin's group bought the Standard Oil Co. cooperage building, 601 Canal St., for its first factory and began manufacturing paste paints, oil colors, and putty. At first, Sherwin-Williams continued the practice of selling ingredients that the customer then mixed together, but the company soon began to develop a reliable ready-mixed paint. It revolutionized the industry in 1875 when it began to market such a paint. The firm disposed of its retail sales operation in 1882 to concentrate on manufacturing.

When Sherwin-Williams was incorporated in Ohio on 16 July 1884, it had sales agents in New York and Chicago. In 1888 it bought the Calumnet Paint Co. in Chicago. In 1905 Sherwin-Williams forged an alliance with the well-regarded London firm of Lewis Berger & Sons, Ltd., and in 1910 built new factories in Newark, NJ, and Oakland, CA. Sherwin-Williams built a linseed oil plant in Cleveland in 1902; bought lead, zinc, and copper mines in New Mexico in 1904; and built a smelter in Coffeyville, KS, shortly after. By the early 1920s, the company was the largest manufacturer of coatings in the U.S. Affiliates and subsidiaries included Lewis Berger, Martin-Senour, and Heminway. Since 1930 its main offices have been located in the Midland Bldg., 101 Prospect Ave.

SPAULDING

The name Spaulding (or SPAULDING Spalding, as written in England) appears early in English history. It was unquestionably derived from the town of Spalding, in Lincolnshire, England. There have been in all ten coats-of-arms granted to families of Spaldings, but it has never been ascertained whether any of them belong to the American branch of the family.

(I) Edward Spalding (or Spaulding) came to America probably with Sir George Yeardley, about 1619. He and his family were established in the Virginia Colony in 1623. He removed to Braintree, Massachusetts, about 1634, among the first settlers, and was made a freeman May 13, 1640. In 1653 ne was living in the plantation which at the request of the settlers was incorporated into the town of Chelmsford, Massachusetts, in May, 1655, and was one of the proprietors there. He was selectman in 1654-56-60-61 ; surveyor of highways 1663; and one of the surveyors of Newfield, afterwards North Chelmsford, 1666, where he owned land. The attention of the settlers was early given to the culture of apple trees, and special mention is made in 1664 of the orchard of Edward Spaulding. He married first, Margaret , died August, 1640; second, Rachel . Children of first wife:

1. John. 2. Edward. 3. Grace, buried May, 1641. Children of second wife: 4. Benjamin, born April 7, 1643. 5. Joseph, born October 25, 1646. 6. Dinah, born March 14, 1649. 7. Andrew, born November 19, 1652; mentioned below. Edward Spaulding died February 26, 1670. His will was dated February 13, 1667, and proved April 5, 1670.

Old Burying Ground, Highland Street, Townsend, Middlesex, Massachusetts

(II) Andrew Spaulding, son of Edward Spaulding (1), born November 19, 1652, died May 5, 1713. He inherited the estate from his father. He was deacon of the church, and held the office until he died. He married April 30, 1674, Hannah Jefts, died January 21, 1730, daughter of Henry Jefts, of Billerica, Massachusetts. His will was dated June 6, 1712. Children: 1. Hannah, died March 25, 1677; 2. Andrew, born March 25, 1678; mentioned below. 3. Henry, born November 2, 1680. 4. John, born August 20, 1682. 5. Rachel, born September 26, 1685 ; married December 7, 1703, Samuel Butterfield. 6. William, born August 3, 1688. 7. Joanna, born October 8, 1689 or 90; married Josiah Fletcher. 8. Benoni, born February 6, 1691. 9. Mary, born December 5, 1695; died July 18, 1698.

(III) Andrew Spaulding, son of Andrew Spaulding (2), born March 25, 1678, in Chelmsford, Massachusetts, died November 7, 1753. He resided in Chelmsford, and was a deacon of the church. He married February 5, 1701, Abigail Warren, died May 12, 1768. He owned land in Londonderry, New Hampshire, which he conveyed by deed to John Goffe, of that place. His will was dated February 19, 1741-42. Children: 1. Andrew, see forward. 2. Jacob (twin), born September 6, 1703. 3. Henry (twin), born September 6, 1703. 4. Josiah, born January 3, 1706. 5. Ephraim, born August 8, 1708. 6. Isaac, born October 28, 1710. 7. Abigail (twin), born July 8, 1712; married James Parkhurst, of Chelmsford. 8. Joanna (twin), born July 8, 1712. 9. James, born October 27, 1714. 10. David, born September 28, 1714. 11. Benjamin, born January 7, 1720, died December 13, 1737. 12. Sarah, born June 9, 1723; married, December 1, 1741, Samuel Comings.

Archelaus Adams of Townsend

William Adams, the immigrant ADAMS ancestor of this branch of a famous old English family, came to New England when he was fifteen years old in May, 1635, in the ship "Elizabeth and Ann" and settled in Cambridge, Massachusetts. He was admitted a freeman of that town by the general court, May 22, 1638. He removed afterward to Ipswich, Massachusetts, where he served on the grand jury in 1642 and as selectman in 1646. He died in 1661. His widow was living in 1681. His home was probably in or near the present town of Hamilton. Children: 1. William, married Elizabeth Stacy, who died in 1655; he died in Ipswich, January 18, 1659, leaving sons. Rev. William, Simon and John. 2. John, mentioned below. 3. Samuel, married Mehitable Norton. 4. Hannah, married, December 6, 1659, Francis Munsy. 5. Mary, married, February 22, 1660, Thomas French. 6. Nathaniel, 1641, died at Ipswich, April 11, 1715; married Mercy Dickinson.

(II) Lieutenant John Adams, son of William Adams, was born in 1632. He married (first) Rebecca , who died with her only child, December 31, 1666. He married (second) Sarah. Children of second wife: John, born March 11, 1668; Mary, August 26, 1670, married Joseph Whipple; Archelaus, mentioned below (see mss. in Adams Genealogy, New Eng. Hist. Gen. Library); child, born in May, 1676, died June 2, 1676.

(III) Archelaus, son of Lieutenant John Adams, was born in 1674, at Ipswich, Massachusetts, died at Salisbury. He settled in Newbury, Massachusetts. He married (first) March 10, 1698, Sarah March, widow, who died March 4, 1718, aged forty-five years. He married (second) March 4, 1719, Sarah Greene, who died September 5, 1740. He married (third) August 26, 1741, Mrs. Dorothy Clement, who died October 7, 1741, aged thirty-two years. Children by first wife, born at Newbury: Sarah, born January 25, 1699; Mary, October 29, 1701; John, mentioned below; Elizabeth, May 29, 1707; Samuel, April 29, 1710; Stephen, March 14, 1712; Archelaus, November 21, 1714, married Mrs. Mary Pierson; Nathaniel, June 29, 1717, died September 1, 1717.

(IV) John (2), son of Archelaus Adams, was born at Newbury, October 11, 1704. He was a carpenter and joiner by trade. In 1737 he moved from Newbury to Littleton and afterward to Acton and Chelmsford, Massachusetts, returning to Newbury in 1753. He married Alice (Ellis in records) Piper, intention dated at Ipswich in 1725. Children, born at Newbury: John, born October 29, 1726; Jonathan, January 16, 1728; Archelaus, mentioned below.

(V) Archelaus (2), son of John (2) Adams, was born in Newbury, September 23, 1731. He settled at Townsend, Massachusetts, and married Hannah. The census of 1790 shows three of the family at Townsend. "Arche" had in his family four males over sixteen, one under that age and two females. Peter had two males over sixteen, and Abner had two males over sixteen, one under that age and one female. Archelaus and his wife had six or seven children, as shown by the census.

(VI) Peter, son of Archelaus (2) Adams, was born in Townsend, Massachusetts, February 6, 1761, died at Andover, Vermont, July 30, 1832. He was a resident of Townsend until after 1790. He was a soldier in the revolution, a private in Captain John Hartwell's company, Colonel Nicholas Dike's regiment, from December 14, 1776, to March 1, 1777. He was also in Lieutenant Johnson's artillery company, raised according to a resolve of June 5, 1780, in Townsend, serving from July 6 to December 8, 1780. He married, June 30, 1795, Lucy Gibson, who was born at Fitchburg, Massachusetts, May 15, 1771, died at Andover, Vermont, February 25, 1859 (see Gibson V). Children: Lucy Fox, John, Miranda, Abraham, Shepard; Warren, mentioned below. (continued on Internet)

Anna (Blaisdell) Hildreth

Anna was born 3 March 1727 at Chelmsford, Middlesex County, MA. She was the daughter of Dr. Henry Blaisdell and his second wife, Lydia Parker. Anna was described by her grandson, P. Samuel as a woman "of large frame, tall and commanding in personal appearance. For the last few years of her life, she became Avery corpulent and unwieldy, weighing no less than four hundred pounds". She had to turn sideways to pass through doors and she visited neighbors on a sled or a cart drawn by a yoke of oxen. She was the mother of sixteen children. She died in 1800 at age 73.

Oliver was a Lieutenant in the Revolutionary War. He died intestate on 1 February 1793 at Townsend, Middlesex, County, MA at age 69. The Middlesex County Probate #11370 refers to him as "Gentleman". He is buried in the Old Burial Ground at Townsend, MA.

His widow said he had deeded away his real estate and disposed of his stock before his death and since their house had been consumed by fire a few years ago, they had few belongings. The inventory of his estate was taken 3 April 1793 and included an old greatcoat, 6 handkerchiefs, Old Bible and 3 other books, beds, bedding, utensils, "cyder" barrels and farm tools.

THOMAS INGALLS, ESQ., was engaged in trade, for a few years, in the building adjacent to the dwelling-house of Miss Milly Walker, subsequently for a short time in partnership with Joel Raymond and with Eliphalet Sawtell, and for many years at the "Ingalls Store," where the sign-board bearing only the word "Store" announced at once the business carried on within, and the simplicity of the taste of the occupant.

Mr. Ingalls was a man of implicit integrity, and earnestly forwarded all laudable public measures with untiring effort and the weight of his character. Few, indeed, have possessed, and more promptly exercised, a keener perception of right and wrong, or were readier to commend the one and condemn the other. His services were often solicited by his townsmen. He was a member of the first board of school committee chosen in this town, and subsequently served several years in this capacity, and also in the board of selectmen. In 1832 and 1833, he represented the town in the Legislature. For twenty-six years he was chosen to transcribe the public records, and was the Town Clerk at the time of his death. The penmanship of Mr. Ingalls was plain and graceful, and the clearness of statement, accuracy, and method displayed on the numerous pages of the registers by him transcribed, were the result of an habitual sincerity and conscientiousness in the discharge of any trust confided in him. For many years he was a Justice of the Peace, and none in this vicinity was more frequently called upon to act in this capacity.

Mr. Ingalls possessed more talent and refinement than many, the lines of whose lives have been turned in wider circles. Of a dignified yet courteous manner, he belonged to a class denominated "gentlemen of the old school," unhappily few of whom remain. He was extremely fond of reading. The number of books selected was not numerous, but these he read attentively and understandingly. Among his friends he united modesty and affection with true self respect and personal independence. In his home life he laid aside the cares of the outside world, and with genuine tenderness and sympathy became the life and entertainment of the home circle. He was sensitively appreciative of the beautiful, and found delight in many things unseen by others. To him there was a constant joy and beauty in summer, and contentment and instruction in winter. He heard a captivating melody in the first bird-notes of spring, and saw an unwonted whiteness in the premonitory snowflakes of autumn.

Mr. Ingalls died December 27, 1863, and the frequent expressions of regret manifested by his townsmen continue to bear honorable testimony of his character and his usefulness.

"At Shrewsbury, Mrs. Mary Jones, aet. nearly 105 years. Her maiden name was Mary Richardson. She was born at Woburn, January 10th, O. S., 1694. Her first husband was Henry Baldwin, Esq., of Pelham, N. H., by whom she had three children, who lived to settle in the world, and left families. Her second husband was Colonel Jones, of Hopkinton, who died about the year 1772, since which time she remained a widow. She enjoyed a good degree of health, until within a few weeks of her death. The serenity of mind, and quietness of temper, which she possesst to an uncommon degree, doubtless contributed to her great age. Being early imprest with the importance of religion, the practice of it, ever appeared natural and easy. As she lived, so she died in the hope of a blessed immortality, and but a few hours before her death was able to express, with great propriety, her views and prospects of futurity"

Columbian (Sentinel) (Boston), November 3, 1798.

JAMES STREETER of Rindge, N.H.

History of the town of Rindge, New Hampshire, Ezra Scollay Stearns, 1875, p. 719:

JAMES STREETER was in Rindge as early as 1769. In 1775 he sold a saw-mill and grain-mill which stood on the site of the present mill of O. D. Converse & Son, but continued his residence in this town until 1801. The birth of three children of James and Susannah Streeter is recorded. [Births of three older children were recorded in Charlton, Mass.]

I believe that his widow Susannah married Isaac Wallis 11 April 1802 Townsend, Mass. (37, 60) Isaac Wallis was born about 1735 and died in Townsend, Mass. 12 November 1817 (259) Isaac's first wife Jane had died 4 December 1783 Townsend, Mass. (259) Isaac had Pew 25 in the Townsend Meetinghouse (1) Internet sources agree with this 2nd marriage.

Vol. II, pp. 882-884 of Hudson-Mohawk Genealogical and Family Memoirs, edited by Cuyler Reynolds (New York: Lewis Historical Publishing Company, 1911). [From Internet]:

(IV) Samuel (2), son of Samuel and Deborah Streeter, was baptized at Cambridge, January 7, 1699, died in Charlton, Massachusetts, June 7, 1763. He was of Hopkinton in 1745. He was one of the organizers of the town of Charlton, to which place he removed about 1754 and died there. At the first meeting, held March 12, 1755, he was elected "tything man" of the new town, and his son Samuel one of the surveyors of highways. He married, July 27, 1719, Experience, born April 23, 1703, daughter of Nathaniel Haven, and granddaughter of Richard Haven, of Lynn, Massachusetts, who came from England to America about 1645. Children: 7th Child: James, October 13, 1734, died about 1801. His name appears on the record as "Sargeant" on a muster roll of fifty-four men from Rindge, New Hampshire, who went to Cambridge under Captain Nathan Hale on the Lexington alarm, April 19, 1775; married Susanna Sloper, September 15, 1757.

Mary (Loker) Prescott & the Pumpkin Shell

History of the Town of Groton, Caleb Butler, 1848, pp. 287-288.

A romantic story has come down, by family tradition, to the present generation, of the courtship of this loving pair of fruitful progenitors, and is still preserved with much accuracy, it is presumed, as a nursery tale. John Loker, of whom we have no other account than as connected with this affair, is said to have been wealthy, and he and his wife to have been somewhat aristocratic in their feelings and notions. Having only one daughter, and she exceedingly fair and of good promise, they disdained to betroth her to a blacksmith, the son of a blacksmith, however rich and otherwise unexceptionable he might be. They had set their hearts upon Mary's marrying a lawyer. So when they found that there was a strong attachment between their idol, the fair Mary, and the young blacksmith, they remonstrated, but unwitting pursued a direct course to foster and strengthen it. They forbade his entering their house, or having any communication whatever with their daughter; and the more effectually to prevent any intercourse, they grated the windows of her apartment in the house; and when they thought there was any danger of an interview between them, they locked her in. Jonas, however, was not to be baffled by grates and locks. He took opportunities, when the cold night wind blew, and the pelting storm raged, when no listener could overhear the soft whispering of true lovers, to place himself beneath her grated window, and there enjoy sweet communion with his dearly-beloved. Their intercourse was soon discovered by the chagrined parents; and the next expedient resorted to was to place Mary in some secluded spot, under the care of some watchful and faithful guardian. Chockset, now called Sterling, then a frontier settlement, was chosen as the place of her seclusion. Jonas searched the country around, and made diligent inquiry to find the place of her banishment, for some time in vain. At length, being one day in the wilds of Chockset, he made his usual inquiry of some young men he saw, if they had any pretty girls in their neighborhood. They told him there was to be a quilting that very day, where all their girls would be; that they themselves were going in the evening to dance with them, and invited him to be one of the party, where he might see for himself. He cheerfully accepted the invitation, and on arriving at the cottage where the seamstresses of the settlement were assembled, whom should he there find, but his adored Mary Loker. This was indeed a happy adventure. Concealing, as well as they could, their former acquaintance, they took opportunities to be partners in the dance, and made assignments for future meetings. Having thus fortunately discovered the place of her banishment, he renewed his visits, till her parents finding it out, took her home. She was then sternly told, that she must reject the blacksmith, and receive the addresses of the lawyer. She resolutely replied, " she would never marry to any one but Jonas Prescott." The rejoinder was, " Then you shall never have a farthing of our property." To this there was a general demurrer; a decree for marriage without dowry followed. The consummation took place before even the most common utensils for housekeeping could be procured; (some delay might have been made, to see if the old folks would not relent, and provide her some;) this tradition positively asserts, that her only implement for boiling was a two quart kettle, and her wash-tub, the shell of a large pumpkin. From this happy pair sprung the doctors, warriors, civilians, statesmen, noticed in the text; with other numerous descendants, of whom Mary lived to see one hundred and seventy-five.

President George H. W. Bush and President George W. Bush are said to be descendants of Jonas Prescott, Esq. and Mary (Loker) Prescott.

(VII) Ebenezer (3), son of Ebenezer (2) Ball, was born April 2, 1787, died December 31, 1845. He married Sarah Swift, of Ware. He was a carpenter by trade. Children: 1. William, May 7, 1815, mentioned below. 2. Emory, September 11, 1818. 3. Amos, June 14, 1820, died August, 1846. 4. Hosea, September 20, 1822. 5. Mary Mariva, December 29, 1825.

(VIII) William, son of Ebenezer (3) Ball, was born May 7, 1815, at Ware. He was educated in the public schools of his native town and lived during his boyhood with his parents in Ware. He began to learn the trade of carpenter, working with his father, but became disgusted with the work one day while helping his father shingle a house, threw down his hammer and quit work. He secured work in a machine shop in Ware Center, and soon became a skillful machinist. He developed wonderful ability as an inventor. He first invented and patented a machine for manufacturing the wooden pegs used in making shoes, a great labor saver. Next he produced a device for using horse power to operate machinery. He removed to Paterson, New Jersey, where he devised and manufactured the machinery used in making Colt's pistols and other fire-arms. Thence he went to Whitneyville, and invented a rifling machine that rifled four gun barrels at the same time. At Chicopee he invented the paper cap used to fire cannon and the friction primer, made of paper, then the brass primer, and manufactured these goods for a time. He next devised the ingenious gate used to regulate the flow of molasses from barrels. He invented the machine that is still in use in the manufacture of pins. He devised a machine to produce the carpet tack with leather washer attached, formerly very popular. Through his inventions in connection with the manufacture and handling of firearms he met Commodore Stockton of the United States ordnance department, who was interested in mines and mining, and at his instance, invented a steam stamp mill to crush ore. Afterward he produced the first gold washer and amalgamator in America. He also invented and built machinery for copper mining, including a steam stamp mill and copper washer for the Copper Falls Mine, built under his guarantee to do better work than anything used hitherto. His business in mining machinery became extensive. He built mills for Pewabic and Franklin Mines, Sheldon and Columbian Mills, South Pewabic, and he sold the rights for the Calumet and Hecla and Osceola Mines. He was the first man to inaugurate the system of interchangeable parts in the manufacture of fire-arms. Considering the number, the usefulness and variety of his inventions, their effectiveness in saving labor and increasing the production of mines and factories, his career as an inventor can scarcely be equalled in the history of American genius. He died January 31, 1870. In politics he was first a Democrat and later a Republican. In religion a Congregationalist. He married (first) June 17, 1838, his first cousin, Sarah Shattuck Walker, born December 18, 1818, daughter of Deacon Samuel and Sarah (Ball) Walker [She died 17 May 1849 and is buried Hillside Cemetery, Townsend, Mass. with her parents (361)], of Townsend, Massachusetts. Samuel Walker was born March 27, 1783, died July 19, 1849; his wife Sarah (Ball) Walker, was born November 20, 1782, died January 3, 1854, daughter of Ebenezer Ball (6) and sister of Ebenezer Ball (7). Children: I. Albina S., born March 27, 1841, married, January 23, 1862, John W. Colton, of Westfield, Massachusetts; he was born June 13, 1832, died January 10, 1907; had children: i. Helen Ball, born December 15, 1863, died May 10, 1864; ii. William Ball, born July 13, 1868, died March 30, 1893; iii. Gertrude Whitman, born December 18, 1871, married, April 21, 1891, William J. Barton; had Sidney Cdon, born April 21, 1892; Leota Albina, born June 29, 1896; Helen Ball, born April 15, 1898, died March 4, 1899; Lois, born December 19, 1899, died September 11, 1900. 2. George \V., born October 18, 1843. 3- Edwin Pliny, mentioned below. He married (second) Adelia E. Southworth (nee Mead) and had one child who died in infancy.

It seems logical that she would be Sarah Sartell born 14 March 1746/7 Townsend, Mass. (210) daughter of Uriah [Pew 18: Townsend Meetinghouse (1)] and Sarah (Martin) Sartell. His parents Capt. Ephraim and Abigail (Farnsworth) Sawtell are buried in the Old Burying Ground, Groton, Mass. (263) Parents of Sarah (Martin) Sartell are Benjamin and Sarah (Williams) Martin. Dates are clearly given on her headstone. They don't match.

Abel Keyes came March 15, 1780 with his mother Dinah, his wife Relief, and “their” children Abel, Aaron, Zebulon, and Betty from Chelmsford to Townsend, Mass. (444, 451) Chelmsford, Mass. records (220, 262, 87-89) record a marriage to Olive Durant and the children being parented by Abel and Olive Keyes, 1770 - 1779. No death records found for Olive or Relief. Since Sarah is listed as 2nd wife on headstone, Olive & Relief must be same person. He married 3rd Rebecca (Ball) (Wesson) (Keyes) Wesson. See HS 406.

In memory of
Capt. DANIEL ADAMS, who died Oct.
10th, 1795. In the 75th year of his age.

Stop passenger; attentive stand,
And hear thy Sov'reign's dread command
Which to our Father did reply,
And thou, O man, shalt surely die.
The solemn moment flies apace,
When you your right'eous Judge shall face,
And enter on th' eternal shore
Of world's, from whence reprieve's nomore.
O listen then to wisdom's voice,
Let her direct thy happy choice,
Be wise and make the Lord thy friend,
Before thy days on earth shall end.
Vain are the joys which sense bestows,
They lead to pain and endless woes,
Like midnight dews they disappear,
When swept away by ev'ning air.
How stupid, senseless mortals strive,
And weary out their slender lives,
To gather pleasures here from earth,
Which vanish ere they spring to birth.

While months and seasons roll away,
Who knows the fav'rite of the day?
Perhaps 'tis thine, thine next to bear
The Judge pronounce the word, appear!
Let this amazing thought sink deep
Within thy breast and sense thy sleep:
Awake thy slumb'ring mind to see,
And be prepar'd to follow me.

ADAMS

Most of the families bearing the old New England name of Adams, now found everywhere in America, are descendants of four immigrant ancestors—Henry of Braintree, John of Charlestown, Robert of Ipswich and Newbury, and William of Ipswich, all of whom have been represented in Jaffrey, New Hampshire.

ADAMS (HENRY)

HENRY¹ ADAMS is believed to have arrived in Boston from Devonshire, England, in 1632 or 1633, accompanied by his wife, eight sons and one daughter. On Feb. 24, 1639 /40, he was allotted forty acres of land at Mount Wollaston, as Braintree, Mass., was originally called. He died there, Oct. 6, 1646. Upon his grave President John Adams erected a monument which commemorates "the piety, humility, simplicity, frugality, industry and perseverance" of the Adams ancestors. The lineage of President Adams was: President John⁶, John⁴, Joseph³, Joseph², Henry¹.

Capt. DANIEL[^] (Joseph³, John², Henry¹), lived in southwest part of Lincoln, then within the limits of Concord, Mass. He m. Apr. 23, 1715, Elizabeth Minot. He died Feb. 9, 1780, a. 90.

DANIEL['] (Daniel⁴, Joseph['], John², Henry¹), b. Oct. 15, 1720; m. (1) Keziah Brooks, and had six children; (2) Mehitable Crosby of Townsend, Mass., by whom he had ten children. He removed from Lincoln to Townsend, where he died Oct. 10, 1795. He represented that town in the General Court and held many important civil and military offices.

1. EPHRAIM⁶ ADAMS (Daniels⁵, Daniel⁴, Joseph³, John², Henry¹), sixth child of Daniel and Mehitable (Crosby) Adams [incorrect mother], b. Aug. 14, 1754, was among the first of the Adams name to settle in Jaffrey, where as early as 1778 he took up land on Monadnock Mountain. This land was located west of the present Poole Reservoir of the Jaffrey Water Works. He sold his mountain lots—in 1784 the north half of lot 8, range 2, to Joseph Brooks, for the extraordinary consideration of 79 bushels of rye, and in 1789, the remaining south part and also one half of the adjoining lot 7, to Daniel Adams and Daniel Adams, Jr., of Townsend, his father and brother. These lots were upon the high rocky portion of the mountain, southwest of the summit and could have had little value for agriculture or grazing. They are now a part of the State Forest Reservation. There is no evidence that Daniel Adams, father or son, became residents of Jaffrey.

Ephraim Adams served as highway surveyor in 1789, and left town soon after the sale of his real estate as his name is not upon the Federal Census of 1790. He was a soldier of the Revolution (see Vol. I) and in 1784 belonged to the Jaffrey Training band. He m. Lydia Knowlton, b. Oct. 23, 1758, dau. of Benjamin and Phebe (Wright) Knowlton of New Ipswich, N. H. They had one child who left no issue.

Eleazer Giles, Jr.

Internet sources state that she was the widow of Eleazer Giles of Hopkinton born 8 July 1698 Salem, Mass. (353) son of Eleazer & Elizabeth (Bishop) Giles at her marriage to Benjamin Brooks and that she and Eleazer were married 27 March 1724. No records of marriage or his death in Hopkinton, Mass. or Salem, Mass. Seems logical that she was married previously. Birth records of 7 children of Eleazer Hopkinton, Mass. (88) The husband Eleazer appears to have died between 1743 the birth of her last Giles child and 1749 her 2nd marriage. Administration of his estate in Hopkinton is probate record #9136 in 1749 so he probably died in 1749. In 1765 Eleazer Giles of Hopkinton was warned out of Townsend, Mass. (455) This Eleazer is probably her son who was 23 yrs old at her 2nd marriage, 39 yrs old in 1765. Ebenezer Giles (12 yrs old in 1749) with 8 childbirths recorded in Townsend, Mass. (236) was the father of Deacon John Giles [HS143] and Joseph Giles (6 yrs old in 1749) with 5 childbirths recorded in Townsend, Mass. (255) and James Giles (9 yrs old in 1749) with 8 childbirths recorded in Townsend, Mass. (243) and Joseph Giles (6 years old in 1749) with 5 childbirths recorded in Townsend, Mass. (254) are said to be her sons. Birth records for these sons in Hopkinton, Mass. (88) Samuel Giles, son of Eleazer and Elizabeth, married Mary Axtell of Grafton, Mass. in Hopkinton, Mass. (218, 280) on 16 November 1749 the same day as the Giles / Brooks marriage. He would have been 25 yrs old. Her only daughter Elizabeth married Thomas Howard of Mendon, Mass. 27 November 1746 in Hopkinton, Mass. (280, 303) One Internet source gives her maiden name as Elizabeth Church. Also see [HS69]

Stop my friends and think on me,
I once was in this World like thee.
Now I lie mould'ring in the dust,
In hoping to rise among the Just.

SAMUEL WHITNEY [HS201A]

Internet information at: <http://wiki.whitneygen.org>

Samuel⁷ Whitney (Asa⁶, Levi⁵, Daniel⁴, Jonathan³, Jonathan², John¹), son of Asa⁶ and Mary \(Wallis\) Whitney, was born 27 Feb 1794, and died 16 Dec 1870, Hudson, MI, aged 76 years.^[1]

He married firstly, 30 Sep 1813, Polly Wallace. She was born about 1797, and died 20 Nov 1825, Townsend, MA, aged 28 years,^[2] or Sep 1823, Nashua, NH.

He married secondly, Kezia M. Gage. She was born about 1800, and died 16 Dec 1837, Townsend, MA, aged 37 years.^[3]

He married thirdly, Hannah M. -----. She was born about 1805, and died 31 Aug 1866, Townsend, MA, aged 61 years.^[4]

Samuel Whitney was the inventor of what is known as the Woodworth planer. He spent considerable time and money on this machine. He had a model made by a competent machinist, which did the work admirably, and he intended to secure a patent on the same; but while he delayed in attending to that business and dreaming about the fortune he hoped to make by it, a dishonest man stealthily invaded the premises in which the model was stored, took the drawings and admeasurements of it, from which another model was made and sent to Washington, and a patent was taken out in another man's name. By this bold and villainous theft Mr. Whitney was defrauded out of the benefit of his ingenious and useful invention. He resided Townsend and Waltham, MA, and Hudson, Lenawee County, MI.

Children of Samuel⁷ and Polly (Wallace) Whitney:

- i. Mary J.⁸ Whitney, b. 11 Feb 1814; m.(1) Dec 1854, Varnum Spaulding; m.(2) 4 Jun 1867, Joel Shattuck, b. Aug 1784; d. 21 Jun 1871; resided Brookline, NH, s. p.

Amos Whitney (1832-1920),

U.S. mechanical engineer and manufacturer, in 1860 organized what is now Pratt & Whitney Co., East Hartford, Connecticut, with Francis Pratt. He employed W. A. Rogers and G. M. Bond in 1879 to develop the Rogers-Bond comparator, credited with rescuing mechanical science and industry from inconvenience. He also established policies leading to successful training of apprentices there and eventually became president, he retired at age 69 in 1901 when the company was acquired by Niles-Bement-Pond Company. Amos was born 8 October 1832 in Biddeford, Maine, the son of Aaron Whitney, Jr. and Rebecca (Perkins) Whitney. Amos died 88th year 5 August 1920 in Portland, Maine. Aaron Whitney, Sr. was born 13 September 1772 in Townsend, Mass. (239) the son of Levi and Rebecca (Clark) Whitney [HS212]. Levi and Rebecca are Amos' great-grandparents. Deacon Samuel Clark [HS208] and Sarah (_____) Clark [HS207] are Amos' great-great-grandparents. William Clark [HS325] and Eunice (Taylor) Clark [HS326] are Amos' great-great-great-grandparents. Sarah (Hapgood) Whitney [HS209] is also Amos' great-great-great-grandmother. Amos was likely named for his great-great-uncle Lieut. Amos Whitney [HS210] a generous benefactor to the town of Townsend.

JOHN WALLIS

Genealogical and Family History of the State of New Hampshire, Internet:

John Wallis is found of record as a resident of Townsend, Massachusetts, in 1731, at which time he was of middle age. He was born about 1676. The first record there is that of a deed of land conveyed to him by John Kemp, November 12, 1731. In March, 1733, he purchased lands of Thomas Phillips and others. His title proved worthless, and in consideration of his loss the proprietors of Townsend granted him one hundred and ninety acres near Mount Grace. He served as a selectman in 1747 and was one of the sixteen original members of the church of Townsend. He died there, May 20, 1763, aged eighty-seven years. In a deed of land to his son Isaac, dated 1761, he included the conveyance of his pew in the Townsend meeting house "in the south door going in," and providing that possession of the pew should not be given until after his decease. No record of his marriage appears. He was survived by his wife Elizabeth, who died January 25, 1765, aged seventy-two years. She may have been a second wife, and it is certain she was the mother of his younger children. He had nine in all, namely: John, Matthew, Susanna, a daughter whose Christian name was not preserved, Jonathan, Isaac, William (died young), David and William.

Richard Gardner [HS240], son of Thomas and Joanna (Sparhawk) Gardner, was the grandson of Richard Gardner first mentioned below. www.bahistory.org/HarvAveHist.html

“In 1747, Richard Gardner, father of the famous revolutionary hero Thomas Gardner, purchased a 110 acre estate that included land on both side of Harvard Avenue or "the lower Roxbury Highway" paying more than 3,000 pounds for the property. Gardner's house stood at the northwest corner of Harvard and Brighton avenues. Amazingly, the house, a commodious gambrel structure, still stands, although in altered condition at 22 Higgins Street, on the south side of Union Square. It was moved there in 1850. It is the oldest house in Allston. Thomas Gardner was born in 1723, probably in Brookline. In 1755, Thomas Gardner married Joanna Sparhawk, a member of one of Brighton's founding families. Thomas Gardner, a major political figure in Massachusetts on the eve of the Revolution, was in the forefront of those urging resistance to the King's dissolution of the General Court in 1774, following the Boston Tea Party. He was chosen to represent Cambridge in the Middlesex County Convention, called to consider measures for public safety, as well as in the First and Second provincial Congresses. By May of 1775, with his election to the Revolutionary Council of Safety, Gardner was at the pinnacle of his powers as a fervent revolutionary. Additionally, during the spring of 1775, he was commissioned a colonel of a regiment he had organized largely at his own expense. Gardener's meteoric rise to prominence and power was tragically cut short when he was mortally wounded at the Battle of Bunker Hill, in June 1775. Lingerin until July 3,1775, Gardner was the second highest ranking American officer killed at Bunker Hill. His funeral services were attended by General George Washington. The Gardner name lives on in Gardner Street, east of Harvard Avenue and in the north central Massachusetts's town of Gardner, named in his memory in 1785.”

Farewell my partner, children all
For God my saviour does me call
Prepare to meet on cannan's shore
Where parting hours are known no more.
Forbare my friends to weep
Since death has lost its sting
Those Christians that in Jesus sleep
Our God will with him bring.

DIX ANCESTRY

Dix, Samuel, farmer, living in the southeast corner of the town of Plymouth, [Vermont] is a descendant in the eighth generation from Anthony Dix, who landed in Plymouth, Mass., in the ship Ann, 1623. He was a sen captain; was captured by pirate Bull in 1632, and after his escape, settled in Salem, Mass. He was wrecked on Cape Cod, December 13, 1636, and drowned. His wife's name was Tabitha. The line from Anthony to Samuel Dix, above named, is as follows: First, Anthony; second, Ralph; third, John; fourth, Samuel; fifth, Samuel; sixth, Samuel; seventh, Stephen; eighth, Samuel. Ralph, born December 4, 1643, wife's name Esther, died September 24, 1688. John, born in Ipswich, Mass., March 12, 1658, died in Reading, Mass., May 12, 1745, was twice married, and had four children by his first and six by his second wife. His son Samuel, the second child by the last marriage, was born February 7, 1705, married Hannah Batchelder, March 17, 1730, by whom he had eight children, of whom Samuel was the third, born March 23, 1736, in Reading, Mass.; was graduated from Harvard College in 1758; pastor of Congregational Church of Townsend for thirty-six years. He received a blow from an axe at a raising, and died a few days thereafter, September 21, 1802. [Incorrect death date] He had seven children, of whom Samuel was the second, born September 5, 1763, and died October 21, 1839, aged seventy-six years. He was married October 31, 1785, to Chloe, daughter of John and Mary Dix, an own cousin. Of his five children, Stephen was born in Townsend, Mass., May 18, 1790, married September 8, 1821, Mary P. Gilson. Mr. Dix died September 11, 1867, and his wife May 1, 1864. His father, Samuel Dix, moved from Townsend, Mass., and settled in Cavendish, Vt, in 1793. He had eight children, all of whom are deceased (1889) except Samuel and Benjamin. Samuel Dix was born in Plymouth, Vt, January 24, 1824. His father moved from Cavendish and settled in Plymouth on the farm now owned and occupied by Samuel in 1827. The house was built by a Mr. Spauldmg in 1797. Samuel Dix married, July 26, 1862, Ellen S., daughter of Thomas and Mary M. (Davis) Cummings, who was born in Rockingham, Vt. October 14, 1848. Her mother died June 10, 1852. Her father died from camp fever in Baton Rouge, La., September 18, 1862. Her brother, Lyman C, also a soldier in the War of the Rebellion, is a resident of Chester, Vt. A sister, wife of Charles Sisson, lives in Keene, N. H. Children of Mr. and Mrs. Dix are John D., born September 18, 1863, married October 2, 1888, Jennie, daughter of Heman and Caroline (Ordway) Gilson, of Wautoma, Wis., born July 27, 1869; Chloe M., born October 6, 1870; and Ernest S., born September 9, 1879.

From Ithamar Bard Sawtelle's History of the town of Townsend, Middlesex County, Massachusetts : from the grant of Hathorn's farm, 1676-1878, pp. 92-98:

92 HISTORY OF TOWNSEND.

At a meeting of the town, June 20, 1760, "Voted to pay all the charges occasioned by the Reverend Mr. Hemenways funeral which are £102 i6s. 8d. old tenor, and that the selectmen provide the preaching of the gospel at present — and provide a place for the minister to keep at."

With commendable promptness the town on the twentieth of October, following : "Voted and chose Mr. Samuel Dix to be their pastor and gospel minister by a unanimous vote." Whereupon the church gave him a call, which he accepted by a formal letter to that body, January 13th, 1761.

Mr. Dix, was a native of Reading, born March 23, 1736; was graduated at Harvard University, 1758, ordained March 4th, 1761, died November 12th, 1797, in the thirty-sixth year of his pastorate, aged sixty-two.

The Dix family, not only in the Rev. Samuel Dix's generation, but in that which preceded it, was noted for great perseverance, strict conformity to puritanical principles united with a good degree of culture.

One of his brothers was the first school-master of the town of Dunstable, New Hampshire, another brother, who resided for a short time in one or two of the neighboring towns in New Hampshire, was the grand-father of John A. Dix, Ex-Governor of New York. They belonged to that class of men to whom we are largely indebted for both civil and religious liberty.

The class in which Mr. Dix graduated at the university contained an unusually large number of men who afterwards entered the ministry, some of whom in ability and usefulness were much above mediocrity. One of his classmates, Rev. Samuel Pavson, was ordained at Lunenburg, September 8, 1762, and died February 14, 1763, aged 24. Mr. Dix was about twenty-five years old when he was ordained.

ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY. 93

Rev. Simeon Howard, a distinguished divine, of the same class in college, was for a time Professor of Divinity at Edinburgh, Scotland. Thirteen, of this class of thirty-one members, were ministers of the gospel.

When Mr. Dix came to this town, log-cabins were about going out of fashion, being superceded by substantial frame houses, made from lumber sawed at "Conant's mill," or the mill at the Harbor. The house now owned and occupied by Israel H. Spaulding, was built for Mr. Dix, and he lived there till 1770, when he moved to the parsonage given to the town by Lieut. Amos Whitney.

In most instances, these houses were large, uncomfortable two-story structures, the rooms on the first floor being generally finished with a suitable panel-work ceiling. The second story, which was the dormitory of the family, except the parents, seldom had any finish unless perhaps a temporary partition across the middle of the house. The pattering of the rain on the roof in mid-summer, or the more blustering music of the wind at the December solstice, were both welcomed by the rustic sleepers within.

The town voted to give Mr. Dix £133 6s. 8d. for his settlement, and £66 13s. 8d. for his annual salary. It soon became apparent that this sum was inadequate to his support, on account of the abundance of paper money then in circulation. The town with alacrity increased his pay, in proportion as the scrip lessened in value.

In 1779, the town "voted to raise £1,000 for the support of Rev. Samuel Dix, and his family, the present year, including his salary," and at a town meeting July 4, 1780,

94 HISTORY OF TOWNSEND.

"voted to raise £6,000 to make up Mr. Dix's salary to the fourth of September next."

The pastorate of Mr. Dix was a continued era of good feeling and concord, and in fact, no disagreement of any magnitude ever visited the church in this town for nearly a century from the time it was gathered.

Mr. Dix was a very successful pastor, and was much respected and beloved by all who knew him, as a neighbor, a citizen, a "man of God." In addition to his labors in Townsend he did considerable work of a missionary character at towns in this vicinity, where they had no ordained minister, and only occasional preaching. He did pastoral work in the towns of Raby [now Brookline], Mason, Jaffrey, Hancock, and Limerick [now Stoddard], in the

State of New Hampshire, and at Ashby. He took much interest in the moral and religious affairs in these towns, and he had the pleasure and satisfaction of living long-enough to know that each of these places had a regularly ordained minister.

The church and people in Brookline were under many obligations to Mr. Dix; and it was in accordance with his advice and good judgment, that the Rev. Lemuel Wardsworth was chosen first minister of that town. Ashby, also, had no settled minister until seventeen years after Mr. Dix was settled in Townsend. He must have made many journeys to these places, some of them long and tedious, during the prime of his life, not only to preach the word, but to solemnize marriages; to visit those who languished under pain and sickness; to alleviate the sorrows of the bereaved, when death had sealed the eyes and frozen the liquid current of vitality.

Mr. Dix was admirably adapted to the sacred calling which he espoused. He was dignified without coldness or arrogance, cheerful without levity, and strictly courteous and condescending in his deportment. He gave his undivided attention to his pastoral duties, and with the exception of one or two patriotic sermons, delivered during the early part of the revolutionary war, he labored faithfully for "a crown incorruptible" both for himself and the people committed to his charge. He was an excellent classical scholar, and as a writer he would lose nothing by comparison either with his contemporaries in the ministry, or those who succeeded him in the church in Townsend.

The following is a sample of his style. It constituted an effort complete in itself, and on account of its clearness and brevity it is here inserted in full.

The charge, by Rev. Samuel Dix, of Townsend, at the ordination of Rev. Eli Smith, of Hollis, November 27, 1793 —

The great Savior, who is the head over all things to the Church, having, in his all governing providence, and as we trust, by his most gracious Spirit, called you. Sir, to this part of his vineyard, and united you with this people in love; and you being now solemnly introduced to the important work of the gospel ministry, and ordained a pastor of this flock in particular; we charge you, before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, to be faithful, as is required of his stewards, in the execution of this sacred office, and every part of it.

Preach the word: the word of God; the same truths and doctrines, which Christ and his Apostles preached. Preach them plainly and fully. Shun not to declare the whole counsel of God. Preach them actively and urgently, as becomes their inconceivable importance, embracing all convenient opportunities. Be instant in season, out of season, reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all

long suffering and doctrine.

Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. In order to this, give yourself to reading and meditation, that your profiting may appear to all. Take heed to yourself and to your doctrine; continue in them, that you may both save yourself, and those that hear you.

We also charge you to be friendly and faithful to our Divine Master, to his Church and the interest of his kingdom, in respect of administering the seals of his covenant. Baptism and the Lords Supper. Teach the people of the Lord to discern between the holy and profane. Seek the purity as well as the increase of the church, which is Gods building; that being fitly framed into Jesus Christ, the chief corner-stone, it may grow into an holy temple in the Lord.

That you may know how you ought to behave 3'ourself in regard to discipline, in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, learn of Christ and his apostles.

Take the oversight, not as being a lord over Gods heritage, but being an ensample to the flock. Observe these things without preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality. Thus endeavor to preserve and promote the peace, unity and edification of the body of Christ. Now, therefore, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus. For this purpose, and that you may be thoroughly furnished to all good works, continue in prayer;

interceding for all men. Pray with and for the people of your charge, not only in public, but also in private. Wait on the Lord, and he shall strengthen thy heart, and bless the people whom you may lead and teach, from time to time, in His name, who is the fountain of all grace and glory.

Whenever you may be called to assist in separating one to the great work, on which you are now entering, attend to his qualifications, especially as to his moral character, and religious sentiments. Lay hands suddenly on no man; but the things you have now received in trust, commit to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also.

Be thou, Sir, an example of the believers, in conversation and charity, in faith and purity. Endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. Fight the good fight of faith. Lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called.

Dear brother, we give you charge, in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and of Christ Jesus, who, before Pontius Pilate, witnessed a good confession, that you keep this commandment of the Lord, without spot, unrebukable, until the appearing of Jesus Christ, who saith. Surely I come quickly. Amen.

Mr. Dix was held in high estimation by the Rev. Ebenezer Hill, of Mason, New Hampshire, who, at his own expense, caused two or three of his addresses to be printed, as exemplars of eloquence as well as piety, and from these the above was extracted. Mr. Dix married Miss Abigail Chandler, of Boston.

The Rev. Stephen Farrar, of New Ipswich, New Hampshire, who preached the funeral sermon of Mr. Dix, says of him: "He sustained the character of an upright and faithful man, who shone peculiarly in the virtues of meekness, patience, humility and self-denial," and that his preaching was accompanied with "earnestness and pathos of address."

During the latter part of his life, for sometime, he experienced a degree of illness from which he suffered considerably; still he attended to his regular pastoral duties. There was a large assembly at his funeral, among which were many ministers, who came considerable distance to pay their respects to the memory of their friend and brother, for whom Death had "unveiled eternity." These reverend gentlemen gratuitously supplied the pulpit made vacant by the death of Mr. Dix, about two months from the time of his decease.

The ensuing summer, the town "voted and chose Lieut. Jacob Blodget a committee to obtain a suitable stone to be erected at the grave of Rev. Samuel Dix." On his gravestone is inscribed as follows : —

Another source states he was wounded at Battle of Bunker Hill and died in Boston, Mass. 24 July 1775 of these wounds. Seems to be husband because son named James was born two or three months after his death. Revolutionary records list widow Elizabeth. She was his second wife.

Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Volume 4

By Massachusetts Historical Society, 1889, pp. 384 – 386.

Dr. GREEN communicated a copy of the following journal of Sergeant Holden, of Groton, kept during the latter part of the French and Indian War, the original of which has now been presented to the Library, with some family letters, by Mr. Henry Sylvanus Bunton, Town Treasurer of Hyde Park, Massachusetts:

Journal of Sergeant Holden.

David Holden, the writer, was the First Sergeant in Captain Leonard Whiting's company. He was a son of John and Sarah (Davis) Holden, and born at Groton, on Dec. 10, 1738. His family, in both its branches, had suffered much from Indian warfare. His grandfather, Stephen Holden, with his "two biggest sons," — one of them David's father, — was taken by the Indians during the summer of 1697, and held in captivity for nearly two years; and his maternal grandfather was John Davis, who was killed by the Indians, in his own door-yard, on Oct. 25, 1704.

On July 13, 1761, David was married to Sarah, daughter of the Reverend Phineas and Sarah (Stevens) Hemenway, of Townsend, who was born on Oct. 25, 1739. There is a tradition in the family that the first time he ever saw his wife was while drilling a squad of men at Groton for the campaign of 1760. After his return from the army he lived during some years at Townsend, where most of his children were born. At the outbreak of the Revolution his sympathies were with the Crown; and so strong was the feeling in his neighborhood at that period against the Tories, that he was obliged to leave his home, when he took up his abode in Hollis, New Hampshire. His military service had laid the foundation for a loyalty to the King, which did not swerve even at the cost of his personal popularity.

Captain Whiting, the commander of Sergeant Holden's company, was a native of Billerica, where he was born on March 27, 1734; but at the time of this campaign he was living at Westford. The company was recruited from

Old Burying Ground, Highland Street, Townsend, Middlesex, Massachusetts

Middlesex County, and the muster roll is still preserved among the Massachusetts Archives (XCVIII.) at the State House, in the volume marked " Muster Rolls, 1760-1761" (VIII. 313-315). During the Revolution Captain Whiting was a resident of Hollis, and he, too, was a tory. An account of his adventures with some patriotic women of the neighborhood is given in Caleb Butler's History of Groton (pages 336, 337).

Mr. Holden died at Hollis, on August 8, 1803, aged 64 years, and his widow at the same place, on April 7, 1830, aged 90 years. He left a " Register " of his children, handsomely written by himself and framed, which is now in the possession of a grandson, William Bunton, of Boston. His children were as follows: —

David, born June 28, 1763, died July 12, 1763; Sarah, born December 17, 1764, married Lieutenant Benjamin Cummings, of Brookline, N. H., July 20, 1786, as his second wife, and died in the year 1835; Betsey, born September 18, 1766, married David Hale, June 3, 1787, and died November 18, 1842; David, born July 31, 1769, married Bridget Atwell, January 1, 1789, and died October 13, 1823 ; Phineas Hemenway, born May 8, 1772, married Betsey Jewett, January 31, 1799, and died January 29, 1856; Lavinia, born June 30, 1774, married Andrew Bunton, of Pembroke, N. H., March 13, 1800, and died November 17, 1836; Artemas, born September 13, 1776, lived in Lowell, and died August 8, 1863; Sylvanus, born April 3, 1779, and lost at sea, February 5, 1811; and Joshua, born April 3, 1781, lived in Boston, and died December 17, 1852.

After the death of Sergeant David Holden, the Journal passed into the hands of a son, Phineas Hemenway Holden, who left it to a daughter Mary, wife of Dexter Greenwood, of Hollis, by whom it was given, perhaps twenty-five years ago, to her cousin Dr. Sylvanus Bunton (son of Andrew and Lavinia) ; and after Dr. Bunton's death the book came into the possession of his son, Henry Sylvanus Bunton, who now has given it to this Society.

According to an advertisement in " The Boston Weekly News-Letter," July 3, 1760, forty-one companies had been mustered into the service of the Province, during the campaign of 1760, up to July 1, either at Worcester by Commissary Anthony Wheelock, or at Springfield by Ensign Campbell, and then marched westward from those towns.

The Journal consists of 64 pages of a small blank-book; and 104 remaining pages are filled with the ordinary memoranda, usually found in such a book, and extending through a period of twelve years. From these entries it appears that Sergeant Holden was a farmer and a cooper; and occasionally he let his horse or his cart and oxen to some of his neighbors to do work. In July, 1765, he has a charge of one pound for a " Pigg" against Archibald McIntosh, who ten years later was taken prisoner at the Battle of Bunker Hill, and who died in Boston jail. On Sept. 2, 1765, he carts a " Load of Cole from the Battrey to Tarbells mills," which were situated in Squannacook Village, now West Groton. In January, 1772, he opens an account with Henry Price, the first Provincial Grand Master of Masons in New England and North America, and he sells him some turnips and does some " hooping" for him. There is also given " A List of the Scholars in y^o year 1772," at Townsend, which then had a population not far from 750 inhabitants. The list is as follows:

RUMRILL ANCESTRY

Simon Rumrill, the immigrant RUMRILL ancestor of all of this name in America, settled in Enfield, Massachusetts, now Connecticut, as early as 1672, and in that year served the town as fence-viewer. In 1680 he was granted thirty acres of land on Great river and in 1683 Lot No. 39, including five acres of meadow and two of field. In 1685 he was granted a home lot of five acres in the south field, also a lot on the Scantuck river and another lot in Spring Meadow in 1698. He was constable and tythingman of Enfield. In 1691 he was called to account for not working out his highway taxes and fined. He died before 1715, as shown by a deed given by his sons. He married Sarah, daughter of John Fairman. Children : Simon, mentioned below; Sarah, born February, 1693; Ebenezer, 1701; John, September 15, 1704, ancestor of many of the Enfield and Springfield families of this surname.

(II) Simon (2) Rumrill, son of Simon (1) Rumrill, was born at Enfield, Massachusetts, July 26, 1686. He deeded his rights in the estate of his father to Israel Phelps and William Bement.

(III) Joseph Rumrill, son of Simon (2) Rumrill, was born about 1720. He settled in Townsend, Massachusetts, among the early settlers, and married there, June 22, 1749, Lucy Stevens. Children: Joseph, mentioned below; Peter, soldier in the revolution from Townsend, removed to Wiscasset, Maine, after the war.

(IV) Joseph (2) Rumrill, son of Joseph (1) Rumrill, was born about 1755, in Townsend or vicinity. He married, at Townsend, May 6, 1783, Abigail Lamson. Joseph Rumrill was a soldier in the revolution from Townsend, in Captain Henry Farwell's company in 1775, ninety-eight days. Joseph Rumrill Jr. was in Captain Warren's company, Colonel Jonathan Read's regiment, General Prescott's command, in 1780. In 1790 the census shows that Joseph Rumrill Sr. was still living there and had besides himself four females in his family; Joseph Jr. had in his family at Townsend one male over sixteen, one under that age and one female. LIEUT. WILLIAM WARREN was a prominent citizen of Pepperell, Mass., until about 1770, when he removed to Norridgewock, Me. He was there a hotel-keeper, lumberman, and agent of a land company. He was drowned in the Kennebec River. He m. Hannah Boynton, who d. in Pepperell, May 12, 1760. He m. second, Feb. 10, 1761, Sarah (Clark) Stevens, of Townsend,

Since he lived in Norridgewock, Maine which is on the Kennebec River, it is more likely that the Plymouth, N.H. record is correct as to which river.

His son, William, born 15 April 1747 Pepperell, Mass. (112) with first wife Hannah (Boynton) Warren died 17 June 1775 in battle of Bunker Hill.

Townsend Harbour

Randal Edgar, "Harboring the wrong notion about Townsend," The Lowell Sun, September 14, 1996, pp. 1, 4.

Bill Pate, a history student at Fitchburg State college, and a 40 year old, 20 year resident of Townsend Harbor, researched the reason for the east part of Townsend being called the "Harbour." He found no evidence for the usual four explanations:

1. because of the pond;
2. harboring the slaves;
3. safe harbor from the Indians in 1600s and early 1700s;
4. place where British loyalists were imprisoned during the Revolution.

Bill Pate found that the first reference to the Harbor was made by Jacob Blodget as town clerk when recording a vote Oct. 5, 1795, to erect four guideposts at "the Harbour" in East Townsend. Pate believes Blodget started the tradition and was copied by succeeding town clerks. In Dunstable, the name referred to an army encampment that later became a center of business. Blodget took the tradition with him when he became town clerk in Mason, and later in Townsend. Pate found that the word "harbour" was derived from a German word for army encampment or hostelry.

A detailed explanation is given at:

Death:

The location of this worn slate indicates that it may have a connection to Lieut. Jacob Blodgett. Since Lieut. Blodgett was 31 years old when he married Sarah (Taylor) (Blodgett) Jaquith, he may have been married earlier in Dunstable, Mass. or Mason, N.H. This could possibly be an earlier wife or a child of his. His widow, Sarah (Taylor) (Blodgett) Jaquith married Captain James Jaquith of Wilmington, Mass. 14 June 1810 in Townsend, Mass. Hear what the voice from Heaven proclaims

For all the pious dead

Sweet is the savor of their names

And soft their sleeping bed.

Far from this world of toil and strife

They're present with the Lord

And labors of their mortal life

End in a large reward.

Elijah, Jr. baptized 16 November 1766.

Nabby baptized 15 February 1768.

Several Internet sources indicate that two sons of Elijah and Abigail were physicians. Dr. Allen Flagg practiced in Ashby, Mass. where he died 7 October 1815. Deaths of Allen, his wife Sally, died December 1816, and son Sumner, died 21 December 1800 are recorded Ashby, Mass. (207) Son Dr. Elijah Flagg, Jr. practiced in Ashby, Marlboro, and Lunenburg.

From Flagg Families of Mason, N.H. at earthlink on Internet:

William Bruce FLAGG was born in New Ipswich, Hillsborough Co., NH on 17 May 1770. He was the son of Elijah FLAGG and Abigail (BRUCE?). He married Ruth SEAVER (1775-1853) on 2 June 1798 in Townsend, MA. In Mason town records he is often referred to as "Cort" which indicates some military experience. He first shows up in the Mason Tax Rolls in 1805 and appears in Mason Town Records frequently. Their children appear to be: Milley (b: 1799), Nancy (b: 1800), William B. Jr. (1802-1811), two more children who died age 9 & 4, Eliza Spaulding, Lucinda, Mary Going, Otis Seaver, Frederic Augustus, The last 5 children were baptised in the Congregational Church in Mason on 26 March 1813. It is possible that some of these children were nephews/nieces. William died in Mason 1 May 1836 and is buried in Mason. His will is filed with probate records, Vol. 43, 1835-1849. The following were listed as heirs: Ruth, his wife, daughters: Milley KNAPP, Eliza Spaulding BROOKS, Lucretia WRIGHT, Mary Going FLAGG, Abigail Hannah FLAGG and sons: William Bruce, Jr Flagg and Frederick Otis Flagg. William Bruce Jr. moved to Fitchburg, MA where he married Mary C. Fuller in 1845. Frederick Otis lived in Clinton, MA and was a traveling salesman. He married Mary Ann Whitney in New Ipswich, NH.

Henry Jefts (1), the immigrant ancestor, was the only early settler of this surname and from him are descended all of the old families of this name. The early records give his name spelled Jeffs, Jeffes, Jefts, Jeftcs and Jess, while in England the names Jeffords, Jeffcrds, and Jeffs are common. The coat of arms of the Jeffs family is: Pelican's head erased, vulning ppr. Henry Jefts was a proprietor of Woburn, Massachusetts, as early as 1640, and was one of the founders and incorporators of Billerica in 1654. His home was on the old Dudley farm near Indian hill, north of Nutting pond. Later he lived west of Long street, near the corner. He died at Billerica, May 24, 1700, aged ninety-four years, making his birth year 1606. His will was dated March 4, 1691-92, and was proved June 17, 1700. He bequeathed to his eldest son John and son Henry; to daughters Hannah Spalding and Joannah Button; to grandchildren Mary and John, children of John Dunkin; Henry, son of Andrew Spalding; Alice, John, Mary, and Hannah Jefts; son-in-law, William Baker, of Concord.

He married (first), September 13, 1647, Anna Stowers; (second), May 21, 1649, Hannah Births, who died September 15, 1662. He married (third), October 3, 1666, Mary Bird, widow of Simeon Bird; she died April 1, 1679, and he married (fourth), May 5, 1681, Mary Baker, widow, of Concord. His children: John, born at Woburn, May 11, 1651; Hannah, died at Billerica, the first in the town of the white inhabitants, 1653; Hannah, born at Billerica, February 4, 1656, the first girl born in the town; Joanna, born at Billerica, May 24, 1656, married John Dunkin or Duncan; Henry, see forward.

(II) Henry Jefts, son of Henry Jefts (1), was born in Billerica, Massachusetts, May 21, 1658-59, died there May 20, 1738. He settled in Billerica also. He married, April 13, 1681, Mary Baldwin, daughter of John Baldwin, of Billerica. She died September 22, 1703. He married (second), November 9, 1704, Hannah Hill, daughter of Abram Hill. Henry Jefts was admitted a freeman in 1690. The children of Henry and Mary Jefts were: Mary, born September 23, 1683, married, February 26, 1702-03, John Needham; Hannah, born September 10, 1685, married Andrew Richardson. The children of Henry and Hannah, his second wife, were: Henry, born November 4, 1705, see forward; Hannah, born May 21, 1708, died May 21, 1730; Sarah, born June 24, 1710.

(III) Henry Jefts, son of Henry Jefts (2), was born in Billerica, Massachusetts, November 4, 1705. He removed to Groton, Massachusetts, soon after 1737 and later settled in Mason, New Hampshire, where he died. He married, October 21, 1731, Mary Geary, of Stoneham, Massachusetts. Their children: Jonathan, born 1732-33 [father of Henry Jefts [HS329]]; Molly, born at Billerica, December 26, 1734; Henry, born at Billerica, July 1, 1737; John, born at Groton, October 2, 1739; Thomas, born at Groton, October 20, 1741, resided at Mason, New Hampshire, died June, 1806.

The History of Norridgewock, Maine, pp. 147-150

JAMES WAUGH, ESQ.

JAMES WAUGH ESQ., late of Starks, a native of Townsend, Mass., came to this place in 1774. [He appears to be James Waugh, the son of James and Mary Waugh, born 8 June 1748. Townsend, Massachusetts (214)] He settled upon a lot at the "great ox bow" on Sandy river, then called Little Norridgewock, which was considered within the precincts of Norridgewock until the town was incorporated. His lot contained a hundred acres of rich intervale, and is now the most productive farm in the county of Somerset. It is owned by his son John Waugh, and James M. Hilton. Having built a log house, and made preparation for raising a crop of corn, he was married to Bathsheba Fairfield of Vassalborough, a woman of eminent talents and a well cultivated mind; and immediately removed to his log cabin in the beginning of the winter of 1774-5. His first son, James Waugh, Jr., was born the following year, being the first male child born of English parents within the limits of the county.

He was a man of sound discretion and unblemished reputation, honored and respected by his townsmen and by all who knew him. For a long time the new settlers looked to him for council and advice. When danger was apprehended from the Indians, he was appointed captain of the guard; and after the incorporation of the town of Starks, he was chosen Town Clerk and Selectman from year to year, as long as he was able to attend to business. He was a delegate from his town for framing the Constitution of the State; and for many years was an acting magistrate of the County. All his duties were discharged with discretion and benevolence.

On one occasion a townsman was brought before him for some criminal offence. The evidence of his guilt was so conclusive on the examination, that he was sentenced to pay a fine and the costs. The culprit was poor and friendless, and unable to pay the fine: the officer was about to carry him to jail, when the magistrate, having pity as he said, on the wretch, paid the fine and cost for him, admonished him to beware of a second offence, as he might fare worse, and let him go without taking any security for the money he had advanced. He afterwards said that he should not regret it, if he never received the money, as the man was poor, and if he had been carried to jail his family must have suffered, and he believed the man repented of his misconduct, and was never known afterwards to commit an offence.

He received ample returns for his labor in cultivating his farm, and in times of scarcity was always able to afford relief to those who needed assistance, dealing out his surplus stores in small quantities to each, without regard to their ability to make him compensation. Near the close of his life, his sons found that a large amount of provisions thus dealt out to poor persons was charged upon his books which was never paid; they never knew him to attempt to enforce payment by legal process.

He lived to old age on the farm where he settled, raised up a large family, and died in 1826, honored and lamented.

His son, James Waugh, Jr., who died in this town in 1818, was born, as has been stated, in 1775. He was educated by his parents, never having had any opportunity to attend school, except for three months at a woman's school; but his education at the fireside, his natural ability and his taste for reading were such that he acquired a good knowledge of books, was a shrewd observer of men and things, could express his opinions with propriety, and became qualified to fill any office in the State.

He was an ingenious and skillful mechanic, and was beloved and respected by a large circle of friends and connections. He frequently represented his native town in the Legislature; was Chief Justice of the Court of Sessions; had command of a regiment of the Militia, and sustained sundry important civil offices in the county for several years, in a manner highly creditable to himself, and satisfactory to the public. As an officer, he was intelligent and active; as a magistrate, firm and discreet, and as a man, upright and benevolent.

Spouse: Capt. Benjamin Munroe
He served as Capt. from Stow in the Revolutionary War. Listed as Capt. on the marriage record to Susanna Haynes.
15 January 1791 Stow, Mass. (161, 178)
He died age 72 y, 10 m 11 June 1811 Stow, Mass. (252)
Born about March 1738. (Calculated)
Buried at Old Cemetery, Stow Lower Village. (252)
He would have been about 53 y, she about 37 at marriage date in 1791. Both probably married before.

In January 1778, a full company under Captain Benjamin Munroe of Stow was detached from the Fourth Middlesex to serve for three months in Rhode Island as part of Colonel Sprout's regiment.

Old Burying Ground, Highland Street, Townsend, Middlesex, Massachusetts

Colonel William & Susannah (Prescott) Lawrence

Colonel William Lawrence was born 11 August 1697 Lexington, Mass. (V1 40) son of John Lawrence and Anna (Tarbell) Lawrence. He married Susannah Prescott 27 June 1722 Groton, Mass. (106, 140) He died aged 66 years 19 May 1764 and is buried in the Old Burying Ground, Groton, Mass. (242)

Susannah (Prescott) Lawrence was born 31 December 1691 Groton, Mass. (192) daughter of Jonas Prescott, Esq. and Mary (Loker) Prescott. [See following [HS135]] She died in her 80th year 10 September 1771 and is buried in the Old Burying Ground, Groton, Mass. (242)

In the center of Groton, Massachusetts, take Hollis Street off Route 119. The Old Burying Ground is on the left. Enter through the gate on that side and draw imaginary lines to divide the cemetery into quarters.. This monument can be found in the first section in front of you.

Epitaphs from the Old Burying Ground in Groton, Massachusetts, Samuel Abbott Green, M.D., 1878 p. 42:

Here lye the remains of Col[one]l William Lawrence, who departed this Life May 19 A.D. 1764. Anno Etatis 67.
He was a Gentleman who in military life rose from the rank of 'Cap Lieu' to the command of a Regiment. In the year 1739, he was made a Justice of the peace afterwards Quorum unus; a special Justice of the court of common Pleas for the County of Middlesex, and a standing Justice of the Court.

He for many years represented the Town of Groton with the Districts of Pepperrell and Shirley in the general Assembly of this Province. In all his public betrustments he acquitted himself with fidelity and honour. In private life his behavior was becoming his Christian profession. He was remarkably industrious in the improvement of time, Just in his dealings, a good neighbour, a faithful friend, patient of injuries and ready to forgive them, gratefull to Benefactors, very ready in affording assistance to the widow and fatherless, and mercifull to all proper Objects of pity. He was a strict observer of the Lords Day, a constant and serious attender on the public exercises of Religin, a devout worship 'er of God in his family.

Blessed are the dead who dye in the Lord.
Here also lies the Body of Mrs. Susanna Lawrence Relict of the above named Coll-William Lawrence

She was a woman of Piety and good Sense,
An industrious, Prudent wife; an indulgent Parent, a good Neighbour, a faithfull Friend,
A hater of Hypocrisy and Guile; a lover of Hospitality, Patiet under Affliction and Resigned to The will of Heaven in death by which she was called out of the world to Receive the Rewards of a faithfull Servant on the 10th of Sept & in the 80th year of her Age. AD : 1771.

Notes for Jasher Wyman:

“to Townsend; 25th signer of proprietors agreement for North Town (Townsend) Massachusetts; first clerk there, 1st clerk of proprietors 1732-5; Town Moderator 1734, 1735, Selectman 1736, Moderator 1738, 'Jasher Wyman et al to be a committee to take effectual care that there be no strip or waste made of timber or timber cut or pine boxed or candlewood picked up for tar, upon ye undivided land and to sue & prosecute ...' homestead now in Brookline, New Hampshire; opened 1st saw mill. At the time of the establishment of the Province line, in 1741, he was living in the north-east part of Townsend, Mass. By the establishment of the line he was transferred from Massachusetts into New Hampshire. His house was located in that part of the southwest part of old Dunstable which is now a part of Brookline; its site being near that now occupied by the dwelling house of Deacon Perley L. Pierce in South Brookline. He owned and operated a sawmill which was located on Stickney Brook. and of which it is claimed that it was the first sawmill to be erected within the limits of Brookline. Mr. Wyman continued to reside in West Dunstable for several years after his involuntary introduction into its territory. He certainly was a resident as late as 1746, as in the latter year his name appears on the West Dunstable records as one of the signers to a remonstrance against the proposed location of the second meeting house of that town.

The first sawmill to be erected within the present limits of the town was built prior to 1741 by Jasher Wyman. It was located on the stream then known as Wolf Brook, but at the present time known as Stickney Brook, in the southwest part of the town; its site being on or near that of the present sawmill of Deacon Perley L. Pierce, in South Brookline. At the date of its erection the mill was located in Townsend, Mass., from whence it was transferred into Brookline by the running of the Province line in 1741.

As appears by the Hollis records, Wyman continued to own and to operate the mill until, at least, as late as 1746; after which date we have no further definite information concerning him, although there is a tradition to the effect that he removed from Raby to Townsend Harbor, and that he died there. Another tradition says that he died in Woburn, Mass.”

Deacon John Tenney and Mercy (Parrat) Tenney, maternal grandparents of Elizabeth (Atwood) (Fales) Tenney [HS422]

The Tenney family of Rowley, 1891, 13-15.

DEACON JOHN TENNEY, born in Rowley, Mass., 14 December, 1640, son of Thomas and Ann (____) Tenney, married in Rowley 26 February, 1663, Mercy Parrat, daughter of Francis and Elizabeth (____) Parrat of Rowley. Mrs. Tenney was born 23 July, 1646, and died 27 November, 1667. He married in Merrimack Village (now Bradford, Mass.) 2 December, 1668, his second wife, Susanna Woodbury, daughter of Humphrey and Elizabeth (____) Woodbury of Beverly, Mass. Residence, Bradford, Mass. Mrs. Susanna Tenney was born 4 February, 1648. She was "dismissed from ye Church of Christ in Beverly " and united with the First Congregational Church at Bradford in 1682-3. (Church Manual.) For a copy of the will of her mother, Elizabeth Woodbury, see Essex Hist. Col., Vol. IV., p. 235 ; and by said will Susanna Tenney received " 20s., to be laid out in a gold ring, to be kept by her in remembrance." Inventory on Woodbury estate taken 28 August, 1689, the amount being ^64.2s. Mrs. Susanna Tenney died 9 April, 1716.

Edward Hazen and wife Hannah of Rowley, for the consideration of £50 from John Tenney of Rowley, deeded one hundred acres in Merrimack land southeast of Merrimack river, also four acres of meadow in Crane meadow, etc, the 20 May, 1664. (Ipswich Deeds, 4:41.) Witnesses, Ezekiel Jewett and Thomas Tenney.

At the first town meeting held in Bradford, 20 February, 1668, John Tenney served as moderator; in 1668, clerk of writs; selectman, 1669. In 1677, he served on the school committee, and his name appears first on the list of deacons, having been chosen 13 December, 1702. As early as 12 December, 1682, at "a private Fast held at the house of Brother John Tenney," an instrument was drawn preparatory to the gathering of a church, and from time to time brothers were nominated to provide elements for the Lord's Supper. Mr. Tenney served on a committee "for ye good of ye town as to settling ye Reverend Zachariah Symmes, and for the further carrying on the affairs of this town for a settlement of all ye ordinances of God in this place." (Church Manual.) Voted by the town, 28 June, 1705, that Captain David Haseltine and Ensign John Tenney go abroad to inquire after assistance in the work of the ministry. He served on a committee "for ye healing of differences in ye church," and " votes were overhauled by Brother John Tenney and Brother John Kimball." Again the 16 August, 1706, he was chosen "to treat with the Rev. Mr. Symmes to see what he would abate of his salary." Deacon Tenney was one of " a committee of three to manage that Thomas affair of calling a council, 4 November, 1707." Voted by the town, 14 June, 1708, that Deacon Tenney, with the other two deacons, "go and invite the Rev. Mr. Symmes to come and preach." From this date, his name disappears from church committees.

He and wife Susanna, for the consideration of /70, deed to James Tenney of Rowley six acres and some meadow land that was formerly owned by Thomas Tenney, Senior. Samuel Tenney, a witness; date, 1690. (Essex Deeds, 14: 232.) By deed, he transfers meadow in Crane meadow in Rowley, 1 December, 1690. (Essex Deeds, 14: 282.) Again, by deed, " to my only son, Samuel Tenney, of Bradford, all land in Rowley and Bradford belonging to my estate, reserving only onehalf during the life of self and wife." Dated 22 October, 1691. Thomas Tenney, Junior, a witness. Acknowledged, 9 July, 1696. (Essex Deeds, 13: 237.) John Tenney and wife Susanna of Bradford deed to James Tenney of Rowley in 1690. Acknowledged, 29 August, 1696. (Essex Deeds, 14: 233.) Mrs. Margaret Corwin of Boston, Mass., for the value of £10, conveys by deed seventy or eighty acres of salt marsh at Plum Island in Rowley to a syndicate of ten men, of which John Tenney is one. Date 2 March, 1694-5. (Essex Deeds, 16: 43.)

Old Burying Ground, Highland Street, Townsend, Middlesex, Massachusetts

Deposition of Francis Jewett and James D. Palmer, that John Tenney hath quietly possessed a hundred acre lot conveyed by deed 13 : 118, valuation ^70, from 10 August, 1688, to 17 March, 1712-13. (Essex Deeds, 26: 128.)

The name of John Tenney is found in "ye garrison at Blackport, Maine," under date 12 October, 1676, and, under Captain Scottow, the 12 October, 1677-8. He died 13 April, 1722. (American Ancestry.)

NOTE.—The first church in Bradford, Mass., was built in 1671, rebuilt 1706-1750-1834-1848. "Voted, at a legal Town meeting March, 1682-3, >n thankfulness, we covenant and promise to give our Minister ye full sum of sixty pounds per annum; ye first half made payable the 2d Thursday of October, in wheat, pork, butter and cheese, one pound of butter for every cow, and one cheese from a family; ye other half payment the 3d Thursday in March in malt, pease, Indian or rye, as he willingly accept; and at our own charge we procure good and sufficient fire wood, he allowing a sixpence per cord for bringing it seasonably and cording it up in his yard. He shall also have the liberty to feed ten head of Cattle on common land as our own." " Voted 21 March, 1698, to pay one third of Rev. Mr. Symmes' salary in money, and in March, 1713, voted all salary for the future be paid in money." "Voted 19 November, 1714, one pound and six shillings for sweeping the meeting house, and carrying the bason with water for baptisms." October, 1699, one hundred brothers contributed " a sixpence apiece to procure another flagon and cup, a bason and wooden vessel for the fetching of wine." At the first sacrament, administered at Bradford 21 November, 1682-3, the text that Sabbath " handled " was from Jeremiah 50: 4, 5. Two hundred and thirty-four communed 11 January, 1723-4. That same month the church voted that " sleeping in meeting, and especially the laying down the head to sleep, is a very great indecency, and if any should do so, they should be reprov'd, and if they reformed not, they should be publicly called fourth." "Voted: The Selectmen have three rules in seating persons in the meeting house. 1st, have respect to age; 2d, have respect to voters; 3d, have respect to the length of time in ye town. Goodman Spofford to have the liberty to set in fourth seat from pulpit, and his wife to sit in third seat in North East corner. Those not taking their places shall pay five shillings a day for every public day at meeting."

INDEX: Patriots of the Revolutionary War

Soldiers of the Revolution: Old Burying Ground, Townsend, Massachusetts

Headstones numbered in consecutive order from records of Old Burying Ground, Townsend, on pages 343-354 of VITAL RECORDS OF TOWNSEND, MASSACHUSETTS, Transcribed and Edited by HENRY C. Hallowell, NEHGS, Boston, 1992. The row designations are from the notebook compiled by Ella Webster and her father in the early 1900s. They used the center path to divide the left and right sides of the cemetery. The first number denotes the row, while the second the headstone number from center. R is for right, L for left of the center path. It's not a perfect system but it is quite accurate. List includes burials of all men of an age to serve, their fathers and/or sons and some wives. Markers recorded 2010. Those with births between 1700 and 1710 probably did not serve in the Revolution but have a military rank from serving in the militia and in the French wars in 1758-1760. There are no absolutes in records this old. The following is what I conclude from my research. Further research may make different conclusions.

The 17 volumes of Massachusetts soldiers & sailors of the Revolution are available to read on the Internet at: Search on "Massachusetts soldiers and sailors of the revolutionary war" to get the URL to locate these volumes. These volumes contain information about many soldiers and sailors serving from Massachusetts.
